Youth Center Restructuring Programs in Wake of Firing of Its Director John Bailey

"Keep your hand on the plow--we're on fertile ground"

That's what Frank Wells, chairman of the Princeton Youth Center board, is telling the college and high-school youths who are, jointly as a co-operative team, running the Center's nine-week summer program.

From last July to May of this year, the director of the Center was John Bailey, controversial young black man who was fired by the Center's board but is still in Princeton -- "between jobs" -- because, as he says, "the Center isn't the only place in town where you can deal with black kids."

According to Mr. Wells and Betty Moore, another board member, the Center's kids themselves didn't want Mr. Bailey to remain. Mr. Wells says that a survey of high-school students showed a unanimous desire to have Mr. Bailey replaced.

"He only wants to talk about what HE wants to talk about" they told us," Mr. Wells reports, "they said 'We can't have a dance at the Center or any fun--he'll just give us a lecture on black history'"

"These kids have no idea who they are," Mr. Bailey says. "You have to deal with your own head before you can enjoy yourself."

On the practical side, the difference between the Bailey directorship and this summer's program seems to be structure. Summer days at the Center are a busy program in which about 35 kids plunge into arts and crafts, go swimming, learn to dance, go on nature walks, work with verbal and motor skills, become involved with theatre, music and a cultural program.

Mr. Wells says a board member with children challenged what she saw as Mr. Bailey's empty program. "All you have is Kung Fu and dance," Mr. Wells reports her as saying, "what can I send my child here for?"

We're here to serve the community and justify our funding by the United Fund. We felt John would bring kids into the Center--but the kids didn't come," Mr. Wells says, "in summer when he could do sports, it was fine, but when fall came, there was nothing. He had a recreation program, but he took it to John Witherspoon School--why not use the Center?"

"We asked him, when we hired him, if there would be a conflict of interest with his own 'Joint Effort' program for kids, and he said no problem. But he used the Center's facilities for 'Joint Effort'"

"We asked for statistics but he wouldn't provide them--or couldn't. We wanted to know how many kids used the Center, how many were in the girls' club, how many in Kung Fu, what were their names and their parents' names, we asked for monthly calendars so the board could attend events, but we didn't get any of this"

Two Battles May Be Fought Here Jan. 3, 1977, One Against British, Other Against Spectators

"The British are coming," Hessians and the Colonials... and don't snicker. The cost worries her, she said, speculating on the bill providing $600,000, which is still on Governor Brendan Byrne's desk. "There is some talk of using the original battle routes," she said, "and when you think of horses and troops going over the Springdale golf course..." Mrs. Hall is a golfer.

But the real battle is yet to come. The Township learned Monday night -- little did George Washington realize that he was fighting the British on Township soil -- that some 200,000 spectators may troop along as camp-followers.

Committee's four present members, Margaret Broadwater being on vacation, agreed to gather at 2 p.m. next Monday in Township Hall for a special meeting. They will discuss Abbot Low Moffat's proposals for asking the Federal government for money, and they will explore possible application for Green Acres money to build an amphitheatre on the north side of Community Park. Work on the first phase of the recreation area planned for that site, has begun.

Mr. Moffat points to the 80 percent Federal funding of the bike ways if the Township gets its grand.

"We don't have ONE bike path in the Township," Mr. Moffat declared, "let's have ONE, and there will be strong demand, you'll see."

Mrs. Hall reported briefly on a meeting she and Mrs. Broadwater held with cyclists, parents and children, and she

"I think that figure is fairly unrealistic," said Committee member Josie Hall, but her voice wasn't quite steady and after a minute she said, "there were 300,000 at Lexington and Concord..."

That re-enactment, of course, had battle flags to April's breeze unfurled. The Battle of Princeton is more likely to encounter freeze than breeze and this may keep customers away, Mrs. Hall said, hopefully.

Hessians will be housed in barracks in Trenton. The colonials will probably be put up at Rider College, Mrs. Hall reported.

Plans call for the British to leave Washington Crossing at 1 or 2 a.m. the morning of January 3 in time to be in Princeton for the battle, which will start at 8 a.m. sharp. There will be closing ceremonies at Nassau Hall at 11 a.m. -- sharp.

"This is going to be quite a burden on our police," Mrs. Hall said, smiling at Police Lt. Michael Lisi, "how do you get people to the battle? What do you do with people marching up Mercer Road? I think probably our police should be on motorcycles..."

State police will help, she continued, and there will be medical helicopters, obviously too late to help the wounded General Mercer.

Should the Township convert its police radio from VHF to UHF? The two Princetons and East Windsor are the only towns in the county still on VHF, police report. UHF means police can talk with each other in a concrete-and-steel building over walkie-talkies. The cost would be $30,000 to $32,000, including about $2,000 for a consultant.

The Borough doesn't plan conversion to UHF, Committee learned, but police say the Township would have to keep part of its equipment VHF anyway, so communication across the Borough line wouldn't cease.

Mayor Bleiman said no matter how much new police communication equipment the Township buys, there always seems to be more. He felt "negative" about this request, he said.

Mrs. Hall, who is police commissioner, promised to confer with the Borough and report.

The state has ruled that children living in the University's Hibben-Magie apartments are outside the walking limit, and entitled to a bus ride to school. The school board has assured the Township it will finance the bus.

Traffic Light. Committee agreed to let the state install the traffic-light at the Shopping Center's Valley and Harrison intersection because it will cost only $12,000, as opposed to the $17,000 it would cost if the Township goes out to bid on its own.

But the state's installation will take nine months, warned state officials in a recent communication.

Remind them, Committee asked engineer Joseph Hodak, that they told us it would be only six months. Lt. Lisi said the intersection is a high-accident site, but since speeds are low, there are few injuries, only bent fenders.

Some 80 Township residents, in the Shady Brook, Riverside and Edgerstoune areas, have asked resumption of the brush pick-up service. Committee agreed to make a recommendation at the August 2 meeting. Mr. Hodak estimated a cost to the Township of $560, per pick-up, including gas and crew.

Committee introduced an ordinance allowing non-profit organizations to hold target-shoots. The Township's code has no provisions for such groups and one of Princeton's fire companies has asked permission to hold such a shoot. Public hearing August 2.

The motorbike ordinance was introduced and hearing scheduled for August 2. Automobiles are no longer included in the ordinance.

Youth Center

Personnel problems were a problem, according to Mr. Wells. He reports that, at one point, the whole Youth Center staff departed.

John Bailey, on his side, says the Center's board saw him as a threat.

"Black members of the board were afraid their white friends would dislike them if they made certain decisions," Mr. Bailey charges. "When I took the job, I wanted to clear up the ambiguity at the Center. Why had there been three or four directors in four years? Was the Center not responding to the needs of the community or the other way around?"

"I didn't go there to be 'Super Black,' but to confront problems realistically and I asked the board to sit down with me and talk in depth. They said 'you do what you think best and we'll let you know when you're off-base,' but I told them that's unprofessional. If you do nothing, you get hit for incompetence, if your ideas don't co-incide with the board's they ask you to leave."

Mr. Wells says the board "wanted to MOVE -- and we were tired of having a director who didn't want to move. We're beyond the blackness stuff -- that was back in the '60s. We want to move ahead."

"Under me, the Center was making contact with the black community for the first time," Mr. Bailey says, "the people who control the purse-strings in town feared this. I was a threat."

"If somebody like me ever gets into the job, then black kids will understand why the schools were closed, why there are no Afro-American studies in the schools, why housing is moved out into the Village in the Township."

Town Conspiracy. He refers to the Center as a "political football," brought into play as a result of the '60s turmoil and he believes there is a town "conspiracy to take it back." He adds that, in his view, Princeton people want to keep blacks confused, off-base, and

"to make sure black kids don't get the same experiences as whites."

Black leaders in Princeton, he says, have given only lip-service to solutions to these problems.

Mr. Wells, talking about the Center's past year, plunges his hand sharply downwards -- "just like THAT, it went down." He makes a sharp upward movement -- but now it's UP. Every morning on my way to work, I see kids outside waiting for the doors to open. And it's wonderful to hear noise inside the Center again. John used to have activities over at the Third World on the University campus -- why not use the Center?"

"I had people say 'It's about time!' when he left, and they said he doesn't represent our community. And there's been no flak from the kids, none at all."

Choosing Princeton college students to run a summer program seems to have been the joint, spontaneous idea of both Miss Moore and Mr. Wells.

"We wanted OUR students," Miss Moore says emphatically. "the University students John had just weren't the same. All these students grew up in Princeton, except Oscar Bailey, and they're role-models for the children. So-and-so's older brother and sister who have gone to college! Or, 'she used to babysit me and now see what she can do!' It shows you can be a leader, when you go to college."

"And the program they've come up with!"

A microbiologist and former teacher, Miss Moore laughs and says, "I wouldn't have dared suggest it -- it's an alternative to school, with self-awareness, group dynamics, nature study, an academic presentation, intercultural activities, and the kids love it. They're finding out all about everything."

Busy Schedule. One of the Center's summer directors,

Oscar Bailey (he's John's brother), spreads out a giant weekly schedule.

The day begins around 9 or 9:30 with "Home Group" activity related to the teacher who happens to have that particular group. Under Mr. Bailey, who has a Red Cross certificate, one group is learning First Aid, another is working on verbal and motor skills, the alphabet and numbers. That's Faith Brown's group -- she's a graduate of Mercer County Community College. Oscar Bailey is majoring in phys. ed. at Trenton State.

Gerald Folkes, a Westminster Choir College Graduate about to enter Trenton State for additional work, has a cultural program with his group. Grace McEwen, a junior at Montclair State College, works on basics.

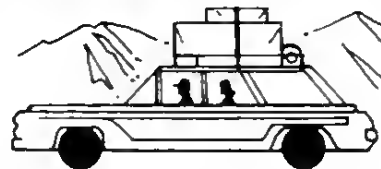

Then the morning moves on to dance or music, to nature study with a walk along the Boy Scout Headquarter's nature trail, or a trip to Marquand Park. Terry McEwen, a freshman at the University of Pittsburg, works with Oscar Bailey on nature

Moviegoers Protest Seeks Participation of All In Quest for Community Responsive Theatre

The Moviegoers Protest, which held its first meeting last Thursday, has formed a 16 member working committee and has decided to bring in representatives of as many groups and organizations on the local and state level as possible in its quest for a community responsive movie theater.

Speaking to some 55 movie buffs and film makers who turned out for the meeting, Mrs. Betty Fussell, prime mover in the protest, reiterated the history of the group's attempts to budge the Sameric organization from its 10-year lease on the Garden and the Playhouse and to persuade the University to renegotiate those leases.

"We are a disenfranchized movie audience," she said in summarizing the high-price long-run operation that is the modus vivendi of the chain theater.

Mrs. Fussell also contends that the year-old operation of the two theaters by Sameric "violates" the basic concept of the Master Plan for the central business district which stressed making the center of town a focus of evening activity, accessible and easy to walk to.

The University's decision to lease both theaters to a commercial chain has changed the character of the town, she says, and the length of the lease seals the fate of future planning for a decade.

Mrs. Fussell notes that there is no public meeting place in the center of town except for the one on the second floor of the public library. According to TOWN TOPICS July 24, 1974, "new public assembly area on Hulfish Street north of the Nassau Inn" was specified as an objective of the Master Plan, which was passed but for which the companion zoning ordinance has not yet been enacted.

William Walker, who was chairman of the CBD sub-committee for drawing up the Master Plan, commented that the creation of a community theater in the center of town would be consistent with the intent of those who drafted the plan in wanting to "return the downtown to the pedestrian."

To Continue Pressure. Several suggestions were put forth at Thursday's meeting. Kenneth Schwartz of Jefferson Road, a member of Opinion Research, said the first step was to find out what the market is for the kind of theater that the group seemed to have in mind before going ahead with searches for real estate. William Hook urged keeping the pressure on the University and suggested an open letter enumerating the complaints.

Mitchell Kurz, a staff member at McCarter, thought that a commitment to make a first class theatre was a good one and reminded the group that the University has been fast to cultural groups of many kinds, providing them with housing and facilities for performance. He conceded that the equipment problem at McCarter is a severe one, and that it would cost approximately $10,000 for a better screen and 35 mm. projection and sound amplification.

Eric Jones, 206 Nassau Street proposed two-pronged pressure to persuade Sameric to give up one theater and on the University to make the Garden again available as a community theater.

Mrs. Fussell doesn't agree with the University's claim that it was because the two theaters were losing money showing the very foreign and first rate American films that the group wants back, which prompted it to sign the 10-year lease with Sameric. She says the theaters lost money in only one year but admits that they were making less and less each year.

Change in Distribution Area. She maintains that it was the "gerrymandering" of Princeton out of the New York distribution area and into the Philadelphia area, coupled with a change in the whole economics of movie distribution and a manager who didn't understand the change that produced the less profitable operation.

Leslie T. Vivian of the community affairs department at the University was unable to attend the meeting because he was out of town. Reached by phone this week he affirmed his interest in the Moviegoers Protest and said that he thought their efforts were being constructively directed.

Mr. Vivian is a member of the cultural affairs committee of the Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce which, under the direction of Frank Schley, has responded to pressure from groups such as the Ballet Society and the Opera Society and is making an analysis of facilities around town that could be utilized more.

Mr. Vivian is expected to be named to the Working Committee, whose members also include Ruth Thornton of the Summer Sound community concerts, who is interested in coordinating all the different performing arts groups who lack space in which to rehearse and perform; Mildred Cook, who will contact the heads of the Recreation Board, the Merchants Association and similar civic groups; Liz Moynahan, who plans to be in touch with members of the Regional Planning Board.

Also William Stackpole, who has offered to help with local legal problems; Edith Martin; Kenneth Schwartz; Eric Jones; Patricia Kellogg of the Creative Writing department at Rider College; Mitchell Kurz; William W. Lockwood Jr., who has offered to do the all-important feasibility study; John Drimmer, a film maker, who will round up the other film makers, Sam Wells and Jack Robertello, also film makers; and Carolyn Roth, liaison with the High School.

Others may be added in the fall. September 15 has been set as a planning session for this working committee.

DEMOCRATS INTERVIEW 4

As Successors to Medvin. Four Borough Democrats are under the bright lights these evenings as possible successors on Council to the late Murray Medvin. Whoever is appointed now, will be a candidate this fall.

Last week, Mr. Medvin's widow, Leona, Marvin Trotman and Michael Rockland were all screened. Later, Bryan Moore asked if he might be considered also.

Mrs. Medvin is a teacher at Littlebrook School. Mr. Trotman, guidance counsellor and basketball coach at Princeton High, lost a close primary race this June to David Male and is exploring ways to challenge some of the absentee ballots in that contest. He was denied endorsement in the primary by the Princeton Community Democratic Organization.

Mr. Rockland, a member of the Rutgers faculty, is on the Borough Zoning Board. Mr. Moore, a lawyer and a long-time Princeton resident, was on the Princeton Regional Planning Board, the former Borough school board and the former Borough Planning Board.

study. Gerald Folkes has a theatre group, preparing for a final production at the end of summer.
Every Thursday - a field trip. This week, it's Washington Crossing park with a visit to the Old Ferry House, the flag museum and a picnic. Next week: Jungle Habitat. Past weeks: Boy Scout headquarters, Island Beach State Park, Colonial Park in Somerset.
Before lunch, it's badminton, volleyball, softball, kickball, either at the YMCA nearby, or on the parking lot next to the Center.
"One day, the kids were so exhausted they had to lie down!" Miss Moore laughs.
After lunch, there are films brought over from the library, or everybody troops across the street for a library event: story-telling, a film, or whatever is on the library's program.
Until now, Center children have been walking to Dillon gym on the University campus for swims. Late this week,

Help Wanted at Visitors' Center
Now that the red, white and blue signs are in place pointing the way to the Bicentennial Visitors' Center at the Dinky Station, visitors are beginning to come in droves.
The Historical Society, which has had thrust upon it the responsibility for staffing the center with volunteers to sell maps and brochures and to give directions and a sense of friendly welcome, has issued an urgent appeal for volunteers from high school age to senior citizens to take a two-hour shift on Saturdays and Sundays.
Last weekend was the first in which visitors descended on the one volunteer in groups of 20 to 40, and the time has come, decided the Society's executive director Loy Carrington, "that we must do something."
She suggests that a volunteer bring a friend partly for companionship and partly to help in the two-hour shift, which is between 11-1 and 1-3, the hours that the center is open on weekends. If interested, contact her at the Historical Society, 921-6748, or 921-6817.

regular swimming classes will begin at Community Park.
Talent Time. Twice a week in the afternoons, it's "Talent Time," once again working toward a show for parents and town later in the summer. Twice a week, it's arts and crafts with a volunteer who comes down from New York.
"We have one thing right after another - the kids need it that way," says Oscar Bailey, only a little tired.
Children are mostly in the nine-to-twelve age range, although there are two four-year-olds. They come in the morning with their sandwich and they stay until 5, when a working mother or father returns.

Evenings are for the older crowd, 14 and up. The Center is open from 7 until 10 Monday through Friday. Felix Brown, Andrea Black and Oscar Bailey are the staff members during the evenings. Weightlifting, a dance group, free recreation with the pool table and ping-pong table are staples of the evening hours.
Every Friday, there's a dance or a party for the older youths, and the Center rents, for a nominal amount, in case somebody is giving a party too big for a living-room.

"The response has been very good with the young children," Miss Moore reports, "but the town has a lot of other things for teens - basketball, things the Recreation Department and Y do. And of course, in evenings, the Center isn't air-conditioned and we're not so popular on hot evenings."
The Center is also "braced," in Miss Moore's word, for weeks when kids come back from Blairstown or Y camp.
In addition to the college students, the Center has three students from Princeton High: Janet Wynder, Wanda Rhodes and Sallie McEwen. Holly Rhodes, a Rutgers student, is secretary and office supervisor, assisting in the cultural program.
All are paid employees, either full or half-time. The only volunteer is Sallie McEwen.

Mr. Wells says he and John Bailey still talk with one another and he says Mr. Bailey has asked to be reconsidered. Mr. Bailey himself says that he came to Princeton "to do concrete and productive things" and isn't really committed to the Youth Vegetable gardens in this area could use a little rain to insure homegrown watermelons make it to the table later this summer. Precipitation has been low this month, in contrast to the mind-boggling torrents that flooded the Princeton area twice in one week a year ago.

Some rain was forecast for Wednesday, after which the skies should clear bringing pleasant weather with somewhat cooler temperatures right through Sunday.

Meanwhile, the group runs this summer's program, and Mr. Wells grins and talks about the little boy across the street who shouts to him as he sits on his front porch, "I had FUN today!" and he says, "I'm really proud."

Borough Council President Martin P. Lombardo has said more than once that he "feels strongly" Mr. Medvin's seat should go to a black man or woman but he conceded that "there is no unanimity" on the subject on the part of those who are doing the screening.

Although Mr. Lombardo said that Mr. Moore himself asked to be screened, there is speculation that Mr. Moore was urged by some Democrats to apply for the job because he was regarded as a more acceptable black candidate than Mr. Trotman, who had lost the primary and the PCDO endorsement.

Interviewers during this screening process are members of County Committee, the PCDO and Borough Council.

County Committee representatives are W.G. Farr Jr., a lawyer from District 8 who lives at 7 Bayard Lane, and James Britt, also a lawyer, who lives in District 9 at 45 Markham Road. The PCDO representatives are President Fred Bohlen and Borough vice-president Mary Wisnowsky. So far, Borough Council members involved have been Mr. Lombardo, Joseph P. Moore and Gus Escher.

The County Committee representatives were appointed by the new head of the County Committee, Dorothy Soper.

Everybody -- candidates and screeners -- was scheduled to meet at Mr. Lombardo's house this Tuesday and the PCDO is expected to meet Wednesday. Mr. Lombardo said this week he hopes the County Committee people can meet no later than next Monday. Council will take under advisement, he said, both the recommendations of the County Committee representatives and the PCDO membership.

"We want a consensus," Mr. Lombardo said.

This year's Borough election will be Byzantine in complexity. There are two regular three-year seats open this year and the two winners will take office January 1. Whoever wins the former Barbara Sigmund seat will take office immediately, in November, and will sit for two years. Whoever wins Mr. Medvin's seat will take it in November and will sit until January 1, 1978.

HOUSING IN BOROUGH?
PCH Talks to Palmer Square. The possibility of building 100 units of low and moderate-income housing for the elderly on Palmer Square, Inc. property is now under serious discussion.

Representatives of Princeton Community Housing -- PCH -- have been invited by Fred Blaicher, president of PSI, to explore what he regards as the chief problem -- parking.

The initial approach was made by PCH. The PCH planner, Sam Kriegman of Kriegman and Smith, East Orange, has explored every possible Borough site, according to Marianne Rees, PCH president. His explorations have included Borough - owned parking lots and what few other areas there are, and he and PCH believe Palmer Square to be the most appealing.

Also, Mrs. Rees pointed out, the Central Business District is preferable for housing for the elderly because it's within easy walking distance of conveniences and because many older people no longer own cars. PCH has decided on housing for the elderly, she said, because current funding is now geared to the elderly and money is a key factor.

The 100 units are the fewest that could be built economically, PCH has been told. They would be either efficiency apartments or one-bedroom units.

The parking problem embraces parking by tenants and what to do with cars now parked on Palmer Square lots. PCH will be in touch with mayor Council on the question, Mrs. Rees said, adding, "It must be a joint solution with Palmer Square."

TOWNSHIP TO SUE?
Decision Pending. The Township will not name either the Borough or Princeton's school board if it decides to challenge, in court, the constitutionality of the state law phasing in the switch in school-sharing costs.

In executive session Monday night -- allowed under the Sunshine Law when litigation is on the agenda -- Township Committee agreed, 4-0, to appropriate $5,000 for a lawyer. At a special meeting this Wednesday at 2:30 p.m., Committee is scheduled to discuss the matter again and perhaps decide whether to proceed with a suit.

Monday night's action was taken because, with vacation schedules, it's the last time in several days that four Committee members will be in town. Appropriation measures require a minimum of four "yes" votes. Committee member Margaret Broad-Sunshine Law when litigation is on vacation and Elizabeth Hutter is scheduled to leave shortly.

The suit, if it is undertaken, will name such state officials as the Commissioner of Education and perhaps the State Board of Education, Mayor Jay Bleiman said.

For the Township he estimated, over $1 million is at stake during the five-year phase-in of the A-46 law.

"We have a responsibility to the taxpayers to risk the $5,000 to $15,000 -- if it goes to the Supreme Court -- where $1 million is at stake," he said.

The state has ruled that regional school districts, like Princeton's, must share costs on a rateable basis, not on a per-pupil basis. Ever since Princeton's two school systems were merged, they have shared costs on a per-pupil basis. Mayor Bleiman observed that, in another case based on this change, the court involved threw out the argument that the change was a breach of the contract between two districts.

Princeton Borough was originally hard hit by the change, and A-46 was passed to relieve such communities of the sudden additional tax burden. This meant that the burden, in this school system, shifted to the Township.

Originally, Mayor Bleiman said, the Township considered going in as a friend of the court in West Windsor's suit but decided against that because it would be too limiting.

The Township's attorney will be David Goldberg.

LIGHT, COOL AGENDA
For Township Zoners. Four brief items will occupy the Township Zoning Board when it holds its July meeting next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in Township Hall.

Lucija Merzinskis, 881 Mt. Lucas Road, needs variances in order to build a house on her lot in the Office-Research zone. The minimum lot requirement in the OR zone is five acres, and Ms. Merzinskis has only .08 acre.

Tenacre Foundation, the Christian Science facility on The Great Road, needs a special permit to do interior renovations. The permit is required because Tenacre is non-conforming in the R-1 residential zone.

David R. Hall, 4235 Province Line, will seek permission to enlarge his lot by purchasing some land from a neighbor, and Ruth Sharon, 50 Deer Path, will make her annual request to extend her special permit for home occupation. In Mrs. Sharon's case, it is her arts and crafts classes.

THOSE SEWER COSTS!
Mayor Underscores. "I want to emphasize that the lack of cost data in the recent three-plant sewer proposal is extremely important," declared Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley this week at his press conference.

"It's strange, not to have this element in such a report," he continued.

The report, prepared at the request of the state by William Whipple Jr., of Rutgers' Water Resources Research Institute, recommends that the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority assemble cost data through its consultant, Metcalf and Eddy.

Mayor Cawley, in another matter, announced that Borough and Township have won their appeal from a suit brought by the taxi owners. The owners claimed that the Dial-a-Ride ordinances were illegal since Princeton's governing bodies could not regulate vehicles as large as the Dial-a-Ride buses. They required PUC regulation, the owners said. The court ruled, however, that since Dial-a-Ride was non-scheduled, it need not come under the PUC.

The matter is academic now. Economics long ago wiped out a brief experiment with Dial-a-Ride service.

INVESTIGATION GOES ON
In Ice Pick Stabbing. Borough police are continuing their investigation of the ice-pick stabbing Saturday night of an East Orange man who identified himself with a fictitious name.

The victim, James Smith Jr., 24, is being held in lieu of $5,000 bail as a material witness.

He was admitted in stable condition to Princeton Medical Center after 10 p.m. for treatment of two to three stab wounds which police said were administered by an ice pick. He was arrested Monday afternoon when he was scheduled to be released from the hospital after police had ascertained that the name Smith had given at his admission—Kenneth J. Sterling—was fictitious.

According to police, Smith was offered a ride to New Brunswick by a group of people he had met in the A&S Luncheonette, 86 Nassau Street. However, police continued, when the car reached the vicinity of Moore Street, it pulled to the curb where Smith was stabbed.

After the occupants of the car, three men and a woman, took between $70 and $90 cash from Smith and a $230 payroll check, they threw him from the car. Smith then told police he made his way to Township police headquarters.

He was taken to PMC by Township Ptl David Cromwell, who notified Borough police of the incident. The Borough investigation was taken over by Sgt. Thomas Michaud and Det. Ronald Holliday. Police said that Mr. Smith claimed not to have known his assailants.

SHOPLIFTER CAUGHT
After Hat-trick. A Trenton

man was arrested last week and charged with shoplifting items from three Nassau Street stores.

Augustus W. Jones, Jr., 25, was arrested by Ptl. Bernard Lenhardt about 35 minutes after a merchant had called police and given them a description of a suspect who had tried to shoplift something from his store.

Jones was charged with shoplifting two baseball gloves from Varsity Sport Shop, 138 Nassau, valued at $23.95 each; seven pieces of jewelry from Gallery 100, 100 Nassau, valued at $96.50 and two pair of shoes ($38.50 each) from the Earth Shoe store, 20 Nassau.

Released in $750 bail, he was scheduled to appear in Borough court this Wednesday.

John St. Man Charged. Jerome McGowan, 28, 246 John Street, has been charged with assault and battery and malicious damage, after he was arrested last week by Ptl. Lenhardt.

McGowan was charged with allegedly throwing stones at traffic officer Douglas Drummond while he was directing traffic at Nassau and Washington Road and with damaging the officer's Cushman motor scooter. None of the stones struck the officer, police said.

Disturber Arrested. Peter Rand, 19, Long Hill Road, Neshanic, was charged with creating a disturbance following his arrest shortly before three Monday morning by Borough police.

According to police, Rand had earlier been escorted from a Bank Street home by Ptl. Gerald Patterson and Ptl. Kerry Klink after he had allegedly created a disturbance there. However, soon after a Nassau Street resident and later a Witherspoon Street resident called to report disturbances.

In each, the caller told police that someone was in a downstairs hall, beating on doors and creating a lot of commotion.

tenced to two days in Borough Jail last week, after he pleaded guilty to being under the influence of drugs.

Dan McKenzie, 24, was arrested last week by Lt. John J. Bellow, who, concealed in an unmarked police car, allegedly observed McKenzie trying to open car doors in a Palmer Square lot. He was taken to Princeton Medical Center where doctors confirmed that the suspect was under the influence of drugs. His case was heard in court the next day.

Police had originally been called to investigate a suspicious person in the PSI lot peering into parked cars but were unable to locate the suspect. He was arrested less than an hour later by Lt. Bellow.

THEFT REPORT

Wallets Stolen. "It was," commented Chief Michael Carnevale, "a classical kind of situation: car unattended with valuables in view."

The place was Marquand Park where Chief Carnevale observed so often those who use the park's facilities leave their cars unlocked with valuables inside. It was Sunday afternoon.

One of the car's occupants, however, saw two teenage girls on bicycles go up to the car. One reached in and pulled out a wallet. When the occupants confronted them and asked what they were doing in the car, police said that the two girls simply rode away. The victim, a Princeton resident, lost one dollar.

The girls were described as about 15. One had long brown hair, white painter's pants and a light-colored top; the second had long, light brown hair and wore shorts. Both were riding 10-speed bicycles, police said.

The wallets of two nurses at the Princeton Medical Center were stolen Sunday from two, unlocked first-floor lockers. Police said that the brown leather purse of one victim contained $125 and a check book; the second victim lost a red leather wallet containing $5.75 and credit cards. Ptl. Kerry Klink and Ptl. William Clark investigated.

Planning Board Honors Memory of Murray Medvin

A resolution honoring the memory of Murray Medvin, who died June 4, was adopted at the meeting of the Princeton Regional Planning Board. Mr. Medvin was Borough Council's liaison member to the Planning Board, and had been attending a Planning Board meeting when he suffered the heart attack that later brought about his death.

The memorial, drafted by the board's attorney, William Miller, is as follows:

"Murray Medvin, a respected member of this Board, departed this life June 4, 1976. It is with a profound sense of loss that we, The Regional Planning Board of Princeton, record these thoughts in his memory."

"Dedicated to the service of his fellowmen, he shared and exemplified the tradition of public service upon which our community places the highest value. With malice toward none and charity toward all, he understood and practiced the rule that government by the people, for the people, must rest upon reasonable compromise. His service on this Board was constructive, earnest, enlightened and unstinting."

"Murray Medvin was involved with people, objective in his judgments, and respectful of others, both on and off the Board. We shall miss his warm and friendly way of differing as well as agreeing. We shall hold his memory in honor, and have faith that his soul may rest in deserved peace."

A Case Will Do, Thank You. Another theft, notable for its affrontery, took place at Cousins Liquor Store on Palmer Square. Police report that a man walked in about 7 p.m., took a case of half-gallons of scotch valued at $78 and walked out.

He was described as in his 20s, 6-0, husky and wearing a checkered shirt. Police added someone followed him but lost sight of him.

TOWN TOPICS last week reported what it described as its first Moped theft. This week there was another.

A silver "Safari" moped, parked and locked, was taken from the rear of a Franklin Terrace home. It was valued at $419. Police were notified of the theft early Monday morning.

There were two more CB radio thefts in the Township.

Pierre Cootin, 143 McCosh Circle, listed the theft of a $100 CB radio and $18 cash from the glove compartment of his unlocked car which was parked in his garage. Wires to the radio had been cut, police said.

Police believe a coat hanger was used to unlock the car of Mary Gianacaci, 265 Moore Street, which was parked between 10 and 4:20 at the Princeton Shopping Center. A slide-in type CB valued at $165, which was unlocked, was removed from the floor of her car.

In another car theft, a golf bag and clubs, caddy cart and ball retriever with a combined value of $135 were stolen last week from the car of a Trenton resident parked in a Witherspoon Street lot. Police said that the car had been forced open.

5 ENTRIES REPORTED

In Township. Township police this week reported entries to three private homes, John Witherspoon School and the Unitarian Church.

Someone forced a window screen to open a window and enter the home of Elizabeth Fischer, 10 Maxwell Lane, between 10:30 and noon last Wednesday. Taken were two radios valued at $65, a television set, toaster and three Bicentennial coins valued at $9. Det. Frank Boccanfuso and Ptl. William Potts are investigating.

Earlier this month, a screen was cut to force an interior door and enter the home of Theodore A. Holst, 528 Mercer Road. Police said that one room had been ransacked and a color television set valued at $429.45 taken.

Mr. Holst told police that as he left his home about 8 p.m. to go to a store he noticed a car drive up to his house, but he continued on. When he returned an hour and a half later, he discovered the entry.

The house of William O. Lippincott, 68 Westerly Road, was entirely searched but not ransacked last week by an intruder who pried a rear sliding glass door to enter.

The entry was reported by a maid and police add that it is still undetermined if anything was taken. Ptl. Anthony Gaylord investigated.

Experience a listening sensation at The Hifi Show. Admission is free.

An open invitation from The Hifi Show.

If you have a little free time on your hands this week, come in to The Hifi Show to listen to a $2,125 music system with JBL, Technics, SAE, and Micro-acoustics components

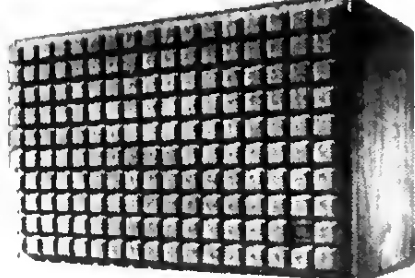

You'll discover that you've never heard music sound so majestic

You'll also discover that you don't have to spend money to have a good time at Tech Hifi—the store that's more like a show. Where you can see, hear, and touch more of the latest hifi equipment in every price range than at any ordinary store

Where you can take as much time as you like talking to hifi experts.

Where you can pick up lots of free brochures

Where you can learn about the finer points of hifi during a summer-long program of free audio clinics, seminars and demonstrations.

And where you have a chance to win a $7,000 Super System just by entering your name at the Tech Hifi store nearest you

All this, and more, is what makes Tech Hifi The Hifi Show

Here's what makes this $2,125 system sound so impressive.

JBL L100 "Studio Monitor" loudspeakers (included at the regular price of $318 each), put out more ear-pleasing sound than just about any other bookshelf-size speakers we know

Their 12-inch longthrow woofers are combined with frontmounted ducts for toe-tingling bass response.

Separate midrange drivers provide plenty of midrange "presence"

And an excellent 1 1/4-inch direct radiating tweeter in each speaker delivers crystal clear highs

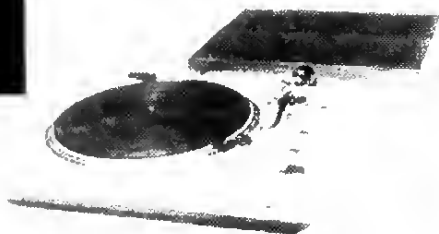

Amplification in this system is amply provided by the SAE Mark XXXIB stereo power amplifier. It delivers 50 watts minimum RMS per channel into the 8 ohm JBL loudspeakers across the entire 20 to 20,000 Hz. range of audible sounds, with no more than 0.1% total harmonic distortion

The SAE Mark XXX stereo preamplifier serves as an extremely flexible control center for this system. More importantly though, it adds virtually no distortion to the audio signal passing through it (total harmonic and intermodulation distortion never exceeds 0.03%)

With its digital readout tuning mechanism, the SAE Mark VIII stereo FM tuner provides absolutely flawless tuning accuracy. A dual meter system assures both maximum signal strength and center of channel tuning

No other turntable than the Technics SL-1300 would do justice to the other components. It has a low speed direct drive servo-controlled motor that permits reproduction of all the musical material stored in records without adding distortion

We know of no finer cartridge to complete this system than the new Microacoustics 2002-e. It combines extraordinary transient abilities with excellent tracking

Other complete music systems waiting to be auditioned at The Hifi Show start as low as $199

Cherry Hill Road was entered Sunday between noon and 8:15 but nothing, police said, appears to have been taken.

A two by five-foot Thermopane window in a front door had been broken, police said. The entry was reported by David Sands who told police he had last checked the church at noon.

William E. Starks, 18, 15 Juniper Row, was arrested last week by Sgt. David Potts who was investigating a report of breaking glass in the vicinity of the John Witherspoon School.

Starks was arrested around midnight by Sgt. Potts and Ptl. Harry Morton and Ptl. James Vandermark after he was allegedly observed by the police leaving the school. Charged with breaking and entering and malicious damage, Starks was later released, pending his appearance in Township court.

Police said that two windows on the north side had been broken. William Karch, superintendent of grounds and buildings for the Princeton Regional Schools, conducted a search of the school and reported that nothing appears to have been taken.

In the Borough, a screen was removed to enter the rear window of a Franklin Terrace home.

Stolen were a color television valued at $420, a movie projector ($160), two AM-FM radios valued at $49.95 each and a $17 flower vase. Det. Timothy Huizing and Ptl. Robert Mucciarelli investigated.

THREE ARE FINED

In Borough Court. Three Princeton residents were fined Monday in Borough traffic court.

Cynthia Chessler, 46 Fisher Avenue, and Robert P. Cifelli, 137 Linden Lane, were fined $16 and $15 for speeding. Improper display of license plates cost John G. Edwards, 302 Nassau Street, $35.

STORE WINDOW BROKEN

By Beer Bottles. The front window of the Dairy Queen in the Princeton Shopping Center was broken last week by beer bottles.

The malicious damage was discovered at 3:28 Thursday morning by Sgt. Jack Petrone and Ptl. John Clausen while on patrol. The building was not entered. The officers report they had last checked the building at 1 a.m.

HOME IS ENTERED

On Witherspoon Lane. A thief entered the front door of a Witherspoon Lane home Monday night, grabbed a purse containing $10 and fled north on Witherspoon Street.

The suspect was described as between 20-30, six feet tall, well-built with a medium Afro and wearing a sleeveless, bright orange top. A Princeton resident visiting the home reported the theft, police said.

enthusiastic audiences last weekend. Two final performances will be held Friday at 8 at Palmer Square or Saturday, at 8 at Princeton High School. The plays are given on the group's outdoor mobile stage, a converted house trailer, and are free of charge.

SENIORS TO MEET

In Lawrence Township. The Lawrence Township Senior Citizens Club 2 will hold its next meeting Tuesday at 1 in the American Legion Hall, 100 Berwyn Place, Lawrence Township. Games will be held at 12 before the meeting.

Final plans will be made for a four day trip to Vermont on August 23.

PHOTOGRAPHS SHOWN

At Art Museum. "New Topographics," a major exhibition of photographs, is now on view at The Art Museum of Princeton University and will continue until September 3.

Included is the work of nine photographers, Robert Adams, Lewis Baltz, Bernd and Hilla Becher, Joseph Deal, Frank Gohlke, Nicholas Nixon, John Schott, Stephen Shore, and Henry Wessel, Jr.

The word "topography" is used in the title of the exhibition in the meaning provided in the New American Heritage Dictionary: "The detailed and accurate description of a place or region." The maintenance of this topographic attitude is the most important unifying aspect among these nine photographers.

Judgments upon the subject matter have been purposely suspended in deference to simple, objectified, visual information. For the most part, even the most vulgar aspects of our society seem neutralized as the result of this topographic approach. The viewpoint is anthropological rather than critical, scientific rather than artistic.

The exhibition of some 180 prints was organized by the International Museum of Photography at George Eastman House, under the direction of William Jenkins, assistant curator. A catalogue of the exhibition, published by the organizers is available at The Art Museum.

The Art Museum is open Tuesdays through Saturdays from 10 to 4; Sundays from 2 to 4 p.m. The museum is closed Mondays and major holidays, including September 4 - 6 (Labor Day weekend).

MAGIC SHOW PLANNED

By Public Library. A special bicentennial magic show will mark the end of the six week series of summer programs at the Public Library. Magician Dennis Kowal will return Wednesday, August 4, at 3:30 to entertain children of all ages with his magic tricks in the meeting room.

Free tickets are available at the children's desk on a first come, first served basis. Tickets may also be reserved by calling the library, 924-9529, and asking for the children's department.

80 DAYS AT PREAKNESS Help Win The War

(This is the last of a series of four articles on Washington's major military encampments in New Jersey.)

Tingling excitement was mingled with lingering apprehension for General George Washington on July 1, 1780, as he approached the front door of a handsome two-story red brick mansion in Preakness, about 15 miles northeast of Morristown.

Colonel Theunis Dey, commander of the Bergen County militia and Washington's long-time friend, had offered the eastern half of his mansion to the commander-in-chief. Washington had come to accept.

Care About Playgrounds?

Parents, kids, neighbors—everybody is invited to playground gatherings to be held next Monday by Borough Council member Martin P. Lombardo who would like to know what people want in a playground and whether the community is providing it.

At 9:30 a.m., Mr. Lombardo will be at Hamilton Street playground; 1:30, at Harrison Street and 3:30 at John Street. He's calling these "Common Sense" discussions. He promises to bring waterbombs to add to the fun, if not to the common sense.

Troops had been arriving at Preakness for several days before Washington reached the scene, and their campfires were glowing on the surrounding hills. Nearly every important American officer came with Washington or soon after. Preakness had become the nerve center of the American effort.

The American army was worn and tired from its brutal winter on the Morristown hills, yet exhilarated by a smashing victory over the British at Springfield on June 23. Speculation was rife in the ranks that they soon would attack the British in New York. Washington pondered such an attack in awareness that a French fleet was on the Atlantic Ocean, headed for America.

Perfect Headquarters. The Dey mansion offered Washington a perfect military headquarters. Large comfortable rooms led off each side of a long central hallway, quite similar to the Ford mansion in Morristown, where Washington had lived the previous winter.

Word reached the Dey mansion on July 14 that the French fleet had arrived off Rhode Island and was debarking an impressive French army at Newport. Two weeks later, and before Washington could move against them, British soldiers began leaving New York for a possible attack on the French.

Washington broke camp on the morning of July 29, headed for Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., in pursuit of the Redcoats. Alarmed British commanders cancelled their planned attack on Rhode Island and pulled back to the safety of New York. The American army withdrew to Bergen County to await further news.

Washington returned to the Dey mansion on October 8, considerably shaken by recent events. Benedict Arnold, trusted friend and capable officer, had defected to the British two weeks before. American forces in South Carolina had been overwhelmed by General Cornwallis' army.

Amid the depressing news, the Dey home was headquarters again for Washington and his staff from October 8 to November 27. Hopes for an attack on New York had dimmed, but at least the British also had been effectively stalled.

Strategy Evolves. Washington spent his days well at Preakness. His staff gathered each day, and from those conferences emerged a comprehensive plan for reorganizing the American army as well as the core of the strategy that would lead to the decisive battle at Yorktown a year later.

The army reorganization was set to start on January 1, 1781, with each soldier eligible to receive fifty dollars in gold or silver for reenlistment. Few soldiers ever had seen that much money. Officers were assured of greater security. A plan for a stable army finally had evolved.

COLLECTOR: Robert B. Gibby has made a lifetime collection of George Washington memorabilia. He will exhibit and discuss the collection Friday evening at 7 in Princeton Seminary's Miller Chapel.

Winter began early that year, with two inches of snow falling at Preakness on November 1. Washington made arrangements to spread out his forces, from Morristown to Windsor, N.Y., where he would spend the winter. The troops and their general left Preakness on November 27.

The stirring anticipations of the previous summer were now memories. Replacing the excitement of July was calm assurance. The 80 days at Preakness had given the army both a permanence and a plan for ending the war. The first steps on the long road to victory were taken at Preakness.

HISTORICAL SLIDE-TALK

At Seminary Friday. Characters, scenes and legends of the American Revolution will be shown Friday at 7:30 when Robert Budd Gibby discusses the Willard-Budd historical exhibit in Princeton Seminary's Miller Chapel.

The public is invited to attend the presentation, which will be illustrated with slides of the 200 or more items Mr.

Gibby and his wife have assembled over the past 25 years. Stamps, etchings, paintings, prints and coins are included in the collection, which has been displayed in schools and museums throughout this area. The lecture is one of several jointly sponsored by Princeton Seminary and Rider College as a celebration of the American Bicentennial.

The Washington memorabilia are the principal items, depicting the first chief executive from earliest childhood through his marriage, his political discontent, the Revolutionary War, as President and at home. Included are such diverse items as an etching showing Parson Weems' famous cherrytree myth, a print of Washington escorting his wife's granddaughter on her wedding day, and the Battle of Princeton (which one reviewer describes as looking "more like a cartoon").

The collection is named for the Gibbys' families. His ancestry in this country stems from the Budds, first settlers of Chatham, while his wife, the former Anne Willard, is descended from an engraver famed in Connecticut during the 1800's.

BUSINESS
In Princeton

TO SELL VARSITY
Liquor Store 18 Years in Town. Steve Eory has sold his Varsity Liquor Store at 234 Nassau to another local businessman. George Pinelli, formerly with Redding's Plumbing and Heating right next door.
The sale, for an undisclosed amount, will probably be consummated next month. Mr. Eory said this week. With his late wife, Margaret, who died last January 23, Mr. Eory started Varsity Liquors 18 years ago -- in August, it so happens. He said this week that he has lost enthusiasm for his business since the death of his wife, who was an active partner in running the store, and planned simply to rest after he turns the inventory over to Mr. Pinelli.

The Eorys lived in Mercerville and Mr. Eory said he would continue to live there, but would be in Princeton much of the time.
"I made it here and I like to spend it here," he said.
BUSINESS OPTIMISTIC
On Future Conditions. New Jersey business executives remain optimistic that overall business conditions will be more favorable six months from now, according to a survey released by Heritage Bancorporation.
While expressing increasing fears of inflation, more of the executives of both small and large companies were optimistic about prospects for employment, sales, earnings and profit margins than they were in the surveys taken six months and one year ago.

More than 400 executives responded to the semi-annual survey taken by the bank holding company based in Cherry Hill, New Jersey. They were selected from corporations in the State with net worths in excess of $200,000.
Forty six percent of the executives believe that business conditions will be more favorable over the next six months. This was the same percentage that felt conditions would be favorable when the last survey was taken in December of 1975. Forty one percent felt conditions would remain the same and only thirteen percent said they expect less favorable conditions.

Employment Seen Higher.
Forty five percent predicted employment to be higher within the next six months, compared with thirty eight percent in December of last year. Only twelve percent said employment would be lower and forty three percent said it would remain the same.
More businessmen believe that inflation poses a serious problem with sixty four percent indicating that they felt that inflation will not be at a more acceptable level in six months as compared with fifty four percent last December.

Only thirty nine percent of the executives expected to be adversely affected by the energy situation. Fifty two percent felt they would not be affected. Both large corporations and small companies indicated they would be equally affected.
Firms are more optimistic indicating profits for the current half of 1976 will be higher. Fifty percent felt earnings would be higher, as compared with twenty nine percent in December, 1975, and 67 percent felt gross revenues would be higher, compared with only forty four percent in the last survey.

Fifty percent reported that the number of employees on their payroll would remain the same with 21 percent reporting they felt the number employed would be smaller. Twenty nine percent felt employees would increase, as compared with 21 percent in December, 1975.
Thirty one percent said that the aggregate number of hours worked by employees during the last six months of 1976 would increase, with 53 percent feeling the number of hours worked would remain the same.
Only 26 percent of the companies expanded physical

OBITUARIES

William R. Dorman, 75, of Province Line Road, died July 15 at home. Born in New Brunswick he lived in Princeton for the past 40 years.

Mr. Dorman was a former director of the Johnson and Johnson Company and a past president of the Nassau Club. He was a member of the Old Guard.

He is survived by his wife, Constance Malley Armstrong Dorman; a son, William R. L. Dorman, and a daughter, Mrs. William P. Howe 3rd, both of Princeton; two step-sons, Noel Armstrong and Hamilton Reed Armstrong; a sister, Mrs. E. Church and three grandchildren.

The funeral service and burial were private. Memorial contributions may be made to charity of one's choice. Arrangements were under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Anthony N. Lepf, 62, of Trenton, died July 17 in the Merwick Unit of Princeton Medical Center. A lifelong Trenton resident, he was a technician at the RCA-David Sarnoff Research Center.

He is survived by his wife, Rose M. Bacowski Lepf; two sons, Robert A. Lepf of Midway City, Calif. and Jack L. Lepf of Yardville; a daughter, Mrs. Carol J. Henderson Sr. of Fort Hood, Texas; two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Rhein and Mrs. Mary House, both of Trenton; a brother, Nicholas Lepf of Santa Ana, Calif.; and two grandchildren.

The service was held in a Trenton funeral home, the Rev. William Dailey officiating. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery.

facilities in New Jersey during the last year and 23 percent expect to expand during the next twelve months.

The majority of firms will use retained earnings to finance expansion. Forty eight percent will use this method while seven percent will use new equity, 17 percent using short-term notes and 28 percent expect to use long-term debt as a source of funds.

Twenty six percent of the executives indicated they would seek funds for purposes other than physical expansion during the next year. Twenty two percent said they would use retained earnings, and 43 percent will use short-term notes. The number of firms using long term debt for these purposes is up from 23 percent in December of 1975 to 28 percent at present.

EARNINGS REPORTED

By United Jersey Banks. United Jersey Banks has reported income before securities transactions of $2,099,000, or 39 cents per share for the second quarter ended June 30, 1976, compared with the $2,114,000 or 40 cents per share earned in the same period a year ago.

Net income, after securities gains of $46,000, was $2,145,000 or 40 cents per share for the 1976 second quarter. This compares with $2,165,000 or 40 cents per share reported for the same three months last year.

For the first six months of this year, income before securities transactions was $4,371,000 or 81 cents per share, compared with $4,333,000 or 81 cents per share in the similar period in 1975. In the first half, net income was $4,481,000 or 83 cents per share against the $4,529,000 or 84 cents per share last year.

Edward A. Jesser, Jr., UJB chairman, said the earnings indicate that the economic recovery while underway, is moving slowly, and that the company is just beginning to share in the improved business conditions.

He noted that total loans were $1,104,430,000 at June 30, 1976, a modest increase over the total reported at March 31, 1976.

"This increase in loans came as consumers borrowed more as they gained more confidence in the economic recovery. It is anticipated that commercial loan demand will follow this trend later in the year," Mr. Jesser said.

"Our subsidiaries made significant progress during the first six months in their programs to attract new business and in continuing to control their non-interest expenses," Mr. Jesser said.

"The company has experienced a favorable trend in the spread between interest earned on loans and investments and interest paid on savings deposits and other borrowed funds."

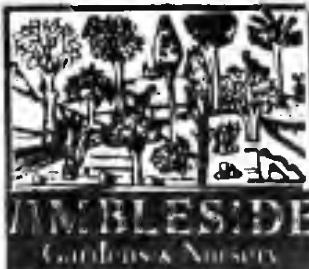

EARNINGS DOWN

At Horizon Bancorp. Horizon Bancorp has reported results for the six months ended June 30.

Income before securities transactions for the first six months of 1976 was $1,969,000 or 74 cents per common share compared to $2,153,000 or 82 cents per common share for 1975, a decrease of 10 percent per share. Net income per common share after securities losses of $14,000 was 73 cents compared to 90 cents in 1975 after securities gains of $157,000.

News Of The CHURCHES

BISHOP IS ASSIGNED
To Lead State's Methodists.
Newly-elected Bishop C. Dale White, 51, East Greenwich, Rhode Island, is New Jersey United Methodism's episcopal leader. He was assigned on June 16, 1976, to succeed Bishop Prince A. Taylor, Jr., who retired after 12 years as Bishop of the New Jersey Area.

C. Dale White

Bishop White whose assignment is effective September 1, 1976, will administer the two New Jersey Annual Conferences which have a combined church membership of 172,000, some 627 churches and 670 clergy, from his office here in Princeton.

Bishop White was elected on the 16th ballot from among more than a dozen candidates at the denomination's quadrennial Northeastern Jurisdictional Conference held July 13-16 at the University of Bridgeport, Connecticut.

The Conference, which is comprised of an equal number of clergy and lay delegates from the 18 Annual Conferences in the northeastern United States, elects and assigns United Methodism's bishops.

ATTEND MEETING
Of Presbyterian Women. Area residents were among the 5,000 men and women attending the National Meeting of United Presbyterian Women held last week at Purdue University in West Lafayette Indiana.

The five-day program included seminars on world and local issues as well as Bible study and services of worship which were coordinated by the Rev. Dr. Arlo Duha, director of the chapel at Princeton Theological Seminary. Attending as guests were three international students from the Seminary. They included Mrs. Charita Gomez of the Philippines; Ms. Nantawan Boonprassat of Thailand; and Mrs. Leah Njoya of Kenya.

Voting delegates included Mrs. Virginia Wolf, who is the newly elected president of the Synodical of the Northeast; Mrs. Donna Bevenssee, travel coordinator, of Mill Road, Dutch Neck; and Miss Helen Patterson, 37 Palmer Square, secretary of New Brunswick Presbytery.

Other area participants included the Stated Clerk of the General Assembly of United Presbyterian Church in the USA William Thompson and his wife, 60 Ross Stevenson Circle; the Rev. and Mrs. David Hengerer of the Hillsborough Presbyterian Church; Mrs. Frances Voorhees, Brunswick Pike; Mrs. Anita Juelch, Mountain Road, Hopewell; Mrs. Mary E. McClellan of Lawrenceville; Mrs. Eugenia Dussourd, Cleveland Road; Mrs. Sherry Steiner, Rosedale Road; Mrs. Peg Byers, Audubon Lane; and the Rev. and Mrs. Ty Shin of Cranbury.

CHORISTERS WILL SING
At Episcopal Churches. A group of organists and choristers attending a summer session held by the Royal School of Church music at Lawrenceville School will sing Sunday at each of Princeton's two Episcopal churches. One choir will sing at the 10 a.m. service at Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street, and another at All Saints' Church on Terhune Road, also at 10.

The Royal School, which is based at Addington Palace, Croydon, England, is presenting the course from Friday through August 1 in cooperation with the Episcopal Diocese of New Jersey. Conducted by Dr. Bernard Rose, organist and master of the choristers at Magdalen College, Oxford, England, the training course is made up of 125 boys from choirs in all parts of the US and Canada as well as 40 choirmasters.

When the choir sings at Trinity Church, they will be conducted by David Koehring, organist and master of the choristers at Christ Church Cathedral in Indianapolis, and Lloyd Cast, organist and master of the choristers at All Saints' Cathedral in Albany, N.Y. Works by Tye, Dirksen and Willan will be sung.

The Rev. James R. Whittemore, rector of Trinity Church, will be the celebrant for the Service of Morning Prayer and Holy Eucharist, and James Litton, Trinity's organist and director of music will be the organist.

The Eucharist will also be celebrated at All Saints', and all are welcome.

ATTENDS CONFERENCE
On World Resources. Lilian Grosz of Pretty Brook Road and the Princeton Friends Meeting participated in a gathering of 28 Quakers from Kenya, India, Britain, Austria, Canada, and the United States held at Oakwood School, Poughkeepsie, N.Y., to discuss the Right Sharing of the World's Resources. The conference was sponsored by the Friends World Committee for Consultation.

Because the United States and Canada with approximately 7 percent of the world's population consumes more than 35 percent of the world's resources, Quakers believe that this imbalance should be redressed and that the world's resources should be fairly shared, which means that consumption here should be sharply reduced. Quakers call for all North Americans to consider adopting a more simple life style, to waste less, and recycle more.

TO INSTALL PASTOR
Of Penns Neck Church. The historic Princeton Baptist Church at Penns Neck will welcome their new pastor, the Rev. Daniel B. England, at an installation service Sunday at 7 p.m. The community is invited to attend the ceremony and a reception afterwards.

A native of Michigan, the Rev. England graduated from Wayne State University in Detroit in 1972. He entered Eastern Baptist Seminary in Philadelphia, but took two years off to study at Cambridge University in England, where he earned an M.A. with honors in Biblical studies. He graduated in June with an M.Div. in parish ministry from Eastern Baptist Seminary and was ordained last Sunday in Michigan.

While a seminarian the Rev. England served as student pastor of churches in Detroit and in Allentown, Pa., where he has served as assistant pastor of that church, gaining experience in leading adult study groups, planning worship services and counseling.

The Rev. England is 26 years old and single, and his primary pastoral interests lie in the areas of preaching, teaching and theological study.

A CHARMING COUNTRY RETREAT - with strong investment potential. Located north of Hopewell on 79 acres of woodland and meadows, twenty of the acres under tillage. Long road frontages. Completely private at the end of a long driveway is a unique 1840 stone and brick Colonial guarded at the front by a tall hedge surrounding a stone entrance court. On the first floor, in addition to traditional living and dining rooms, there is a large, fully panelled kitchen with fireplace, plus a master bedroom and bath. Upstairs, two more bedrooms and bath. At the rear, a large, stone paved screened terrace with outside fireplace, overlooking lawns. Outbuildings include a completely restored, heated barn, formerly used as a professional engineer's office but suitable for studio or guest house. Walk-in fireplace and half bath. Old stone smoke house. Three car garage. $400,000

Attractive reproduction of an old Colonial designed by the late Rolfe Bauhan - A weathered shingle exterior, old random width floors in the entry hall, dining room, living room and library, antique mantels on the fireplaces in the living room and library, all beautifully carry out the architect's attention to authentic details. The master suite has a sitting room and full bath. There are 3 additional bedrooms and a centrally-located bath. Also, on the first floor is another bedroom and bath and a fine big kitchen. A lovely lot with aged trees and in a marvelously convenient location. $160,000

Duraclean's over 2000 dealers warn you against steaming, scrubbing and soaking methods of cleaning your carpets and upholstery. Have them hand cleaned with the Duraclean® Foam-Absorption Process

Your expensive investment in carpets, oriental rugs and upholstery deserves the gentle foam that absorbs dirt that other methods can't dislodge. Then the skilled hands of Duraclean specialists sponge it away. No false claims - just a thorough cleaning. Guaranteed by the Parents Magazine Seal and certified by American Research and Testing Laboratories. No other method or process can offer these credentials.

SOME HENDERSON LAND

Do you honestly know of a better investment?

Here are just a few of the many land listings available to you through our offices in Princeton and Hopewell. Some are beautiful scenic building lots with woods and streams, others are major farm properties with active potential for successful investment for immediate & future development.

Lots and Lots of Lots

Three [count 'em] three beautiful building lots in The Meadows off Elm Ridge Road on a quiet cul de sac. All underground utilities, dry sewer and water lines. Septic systems approved. For sale to builders or for you to have your own custom home created. $26,000

In Hopewell, overlooking the hills of Harbourn, 4 beautiful building lots. Ready to go, percolation supplied, approved by Township. Estate road. Perfect for horses. From 3 acres to 5. Priced from $25,000

10 Acre "Flag Lot" on Bowne Station Road in delightful Delaware Township. Some open, some wooded. Rolling-high ground. $37,500

In the Bedens Brook area of Hopewell Township, we have two spectacular building lots-densely wooded...soon to be subdivided. There is a beautiful stream, and sensational vistas. The price and size of lots will soon be determined, but please call us to see what piece you would like for an outstanding building lot for your contemporary. 6 to 9 acres.

Eight grand lots on Headquarters Rd. near Sergeantsville. They range from 3 acres to 7 acres. Beautiful views. Some woods. Stream. $26,500 and up

1 spectacular 10-acre lot is available just across the Township line in East Amwell. Wooded with high land and a view. Just right for privacy and a mini-estate. $28,000

Last Lot in East Elm Ridge. Wooded. Lovely. Just across the lane from Honey Lake in Hopewell Township. We'll build a custom house for you or choose your own builder. Last chance. 1.4 acres. $42,500

Drastically Falling Enrollment Poses Problem For New Head of Cooperative Nursery School

Princeton's oldest cooperative nursery school has a new teacher and a new problem. The new teacher is Kris Sheehan of Caldwell Drive, who steps into the position occupied by Louise Smith of Hopewell for 29 years before her retirement in May. The problem, shared with other area nursery schools is drastically falling enrollment.

Princeton Cooperative Nursery School was founded in the fall of 1947 by a group of University wives who wanted to be involved in their children's first steps in the educational world. Mrs. Richard Wilhelm of 83 Moore Street, then "Boo" Strayer, wife of a history teacher at Princeton, was one of the founding parents, as was Eddie Devereaux, wife of a sociology professor now at Cornell.

From the beginning the parents have owned and operated the school, decided the tuition, acquired, painted and repaired the equipment, and taken their turns once a month as "helping" parent, (usually mother). PCNS has had various homes: Rose Cottage (no longer in existence) across from Morven for 12 years; the Italian-American Sportsman

RETIRING: Louise Smith, teacher at Princeton Cooperative Nursery School for 29 years, is presented with an album of pictures at school's celebration of her birthday.

Club for a few months; the Knights of Columbus building on Prospect for five years; and the Lutheran Church on the corner of Nassau Street and Cedar Lane since 1967.

Silver-haired, blue-eyed Mrs. Smith has nurtured each year's group of 3 and 4 year olds with a warmth and gentle firmness that has endeared her to the generations of helping mothers who have learned at her side, greater understanding of children and skill in meeting their needs.

The nursery school is the child's workshop, begins the mimeographed suggestions for the assisting parent. "Use your voice as a teaching tool - DON'T YELL." It gives guidelines notable for their positive and encouraging approach, tempered by the necessary firmness. "We throw balls and bean bags, not blocks."

Multi-Age and Open-Space. Located in one large sunny basement room, the school is unique in that it is the only multi-age, open-space cooperative nursery school in the area. Three year olds and four year olds are together at all times, the younger ones learning from the older, the older having the satisfaction of being able to help a younger one. The children move at their own volition from building with blocks to playing in the doll corner to doing a painting or using the clay.

A good half the morning is spent outdoors in a well-equipped fenced in play area. There are trips to the police station and rides on the Dinky; holidays such as Valentine's and May Day to be celebrated as well as each child's birthday; excursions to Terhune's Orchard for apples with which to make applesauce; and in the spring a clutch of chicken eggs to incubate and watch hatch.

Mrs. Sheehan feels so strongly that the philosophy of the school should continue that she and the assistant teacher, Betty Lou Allen of Lawrenceville, are willing to work next year without pay to ensure its continuation. Accustomed to an enrollment of around 17 children, the school currently has 9 registered, enough to pay the rent but not salaries.

Mrs. Sheehan received her degree in English and her teacher's certificate from Cornell University in 1960. She taught English in junior and senior high schools in Ithaca and in Wisconsin for seven years interrupted by the birth of one or another of her four children. When she came to Princeton six years ago she was involved first in the Presbyterian Cooperative Nursery School and the following year at PCNS.

Before agreeing to take over Mrs. Smith's role in the school, she had been involved for five years and two daughters as a member, then chairman, of the board and two years ago as chairman of the school's first efforts at outside fund raising. She finds being a part of a nursery school more rewarding than teaching English to high school students ever was.

"There is something about the smile that crosses a three year old's face as he discovers he has mastered something he wasn't able to do before," she says. She also believes that multi-age, family oriented concept of the school makes for a good transition from home to kindergarten.

Parents An Integral Part. Another unique aspect, she thinks, is the varied contributions a varied group of parents can make. One year there was a mother who was an accomplished guitarist who came to school to sing and play for the children. Another year a mother shared her talent for baking bread.

The school even accommodates those parents who for some compelling reason are unable to take their turn as assisting parent. The family then pays an additional $15 and is expected to attend meetings and head a committee as other parents do, but in no way is the child allowed to feel slighted because other mommies are there as helping mothers and his is not.

There is a music teacher, Arlene Succop, who comes once a week. The tuition is currently $55 a month. For those who have recently moved to town and would like this kind of nursery school experience, the person to call is Pat Harding, chairman, 921-8599, or Elinor Williams, registrar, 921-6585.

NEW TEACHER: Kris Sheehan hopes school's dwindling population will not force it to close.

Critic's Temperature Rises At Sick "Invalid" Production

IMAGINARY? Looks real enough, with that clinical thermometer and all. The stocking-capped invalid is Richard Ferrugio as "The Imaginary Invalid" in Summer Intime's production of Moliere's comedy.

Summer Intime's production of Moliere's "The Imaginary Invalid" is sick, sick, sick.

This tasteless hodge podge of the poorer elements of Woody Allen, the Marx Brothers and "I Love Lucy" is without pace, style, focus, or any sense of intelligent direction. This "Invalid" is terminal.

It is difficult to find one aspect of Intime's creation (calling Dr. Frankenstein) which is more abysmal than another. The acting, with the exception of one inspired bit by Joseph Harbeson, demonstrates the limitations of actors when they rely on doing their own "thing." Richard Ferrugio, in the title role, has a gift for catching the pompous posturing of the vain self-important windbag. But a little of this goes a long way, and a lot of it becomes annoying and nauseating. Anne Louise Hoffmann, a real beauty, plays his maid Toinette. Ms. Hoffmann, alas, is addicted to the golly gee, who me school of eye-rolling, cake-walking, Groucho-slouching school of comedy. She does everything but climb the wall. And she too is very, very wearing.

Almost as disappointing is Winnie Holzman as the invalid's love-sick daughter. Her wide-eyed, naive obtuseness which has seemed so charming in the past was strained and, for the most part, fell flat.

Fruitless Labor. What goes wrong for these generally fine actors and the others in the play is only partially their fault. They labor fruitlessly to bring some shape to the formless and flatulent monstrosity that is Miles Malleon's translation and desecration of Moliere's farce. They receive no help from director Peter Schifter, who switches style from farce to burlesque to black comedy not only from scene to scene but sometimes in the midst of one. The reason is never totally apparent, and the result is distracting and more often than not exasperating.

Neither Mr. Schifter nor the actors seem to have a sense of where they are going or how they are getting there. Time after time a flatness permeates the proceedings, and the actors seem to lose their concentration. The director's answer to many of these situations - and for that matter at other times, for no reason at all - is to assemble various members of the cast on the huge bed which dominates the set. They kneel, they crawl, they sprawl, they roll, they intertwine, and at times they give the impression of a third rate acrobatic troupe attempting to form a living pyramid.

Reason, purpose and focus are sadly missing in this tedious debacle. And the long evening was not made any more bearable by Summer Intime's customary fifteen minute-plus intermissions. Thank heaven that this production will run only one more weekend. This fine company can do better. And to paraphrase a line of Winnie Holzman, "We didn't deserve this."

VIOLIN, OUTDOORS

In Final Concert. The last of this year's Princeton University Outdoor Concerts will be given next Wednesday, July 28 at 8:30 p.m. in the North Court of the Graduate College. If it rains, the concert will be given in adjoining Proctor Hall.

David Nadien, violinist, will play the Beethoven Sonata Op. 12, No. 1, the Brahms Sonata Op. 100, No. 2 and the Cesar Frank Sonata. His accompanist will be Marian Hahn.

Mr. Nadien was for many years concertmaster of the New York Philharmonic, resigning in 1972 to pursue a full-time career on the concert stage and in the recording studio. He is also a teacher. He won the Leventritt Competition when Arturo Toscanini was chairman of the board of judges, and has since performed in recitals and with major orchestras throughout the country. Ms. Hahn was one of five finalists in this year's Leventritt Competition.

The season now concluding is the sixth for the free Outdoor University Concerts. Sponsors are E.R. Squibb and Co., RCA, The Gallup Organization, Inc., Kepner-Tregoe, Inc. and Firmenich, Inc.

...AT POOH CORNER
Welcome, Children. "The House at Pooh Corner" will open its welcoming doors at Murray Theatre this weekend and on into the week. Intime presents its annual children's show.

Showtime is 2 p.m. this Saturday, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, in the air-conditioned theatre. Admission is $2 and group rates are available.

Christopher Robin, Tigger, Kanga and Baby Roo, Eeyore and Owl, and of course Winnie-the-Pooh himself will all be on hand in this adaptation of the A.A. Milne stories.

SHAKESPEARE ON FILM
"Midsummer Night's Dream." The Royal Shakespeare Company's "Midsummer Night's Dream" will be screened three nights in a row as part of Summer Intime's Classic Film Series, and audiences are invited to choose among next Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in air-conditioned McCormick Art Museum.

David Warner, Ian Richardson, Bill Travers and Diana Rigg are the stars.

NEXT, AT INTIME:
"Two for the Seesaw." When a second-rate dancer and a lawyer from Nebraska meet under unlikely circumstances in the New York jungle, it's a play for William Gibson, and another production for Summer Intime.

"Two for the Seesaw", which starred Henry Fonda and Anne Bancroft in the early 1960s, will open Thursday, July 29 in Murray Theatre and will play again July 30, 31 and August 1, and August 5-8. Curtain time is 8:30 each night.

Kimothy Cruse, the director, is new to Summer Intime, but staged "Miss Reardon Drinks a Little" and "Gingerbread Lady" for Princeton Community Players. He was assistant director to Dustin Hoffman in the Broadway production of Murray Schisgal's "All Over Town."

The odd couple will be played by Anne Louise Hoffman and Jamie Horton.

FINAL DAYS SET
For Street Theatre Production. Friday and Saturday are the last days to see Princeton Street Theatre's production of "4 on a Garden", the 4-act comedy set in an apartment in Manhattan.

Directed by Debbie Bellow of Street Theatre, the show will be performed on July 23 in Palmer Square and July 24 at Princeton High School in the bright blue mobile stage. Admission is free, but donations will be accepted.

Francia White, Street Theatre's executive director, is also in charge of the summer workshops. There is still space in the classes for Dance, July 26-30, and Improvisation, August 2-6. The classes are free, but those interested must register in person at Dorothea House, 120 John St. across from the YMCA, or call at 924-7452.

"Fractured Fairy Fables" the story theatre children's show, still has a few dates open for booking for performance at any organization interested. For information, call Debbie Bellow at 924-7452.

Auditions will be held July 27-28 for 3 one-act plays: "The Real Inspector Hound", "The Mice Have Been Drinking Again", and "The Bathroom Door", at 7:00 p.m., at Dorothea House. There are more than 20 parts available and more than half of them are for men.

DANCE GROUP HERE
From Belgium. The Shaïda Dance Group from Belgium, concluding a month long tour of the United States, will be the guest of The Princeton Ballet Company from Friday through Tuesday.

Two performances by the 68-member troupe have been scheduled in Trenton. On Sunday, Shaïda will appear at 1 p.m. at the New Jersey State Museum as part of the Middlesex County Cultural and Heritage Commission's Capitol Salute to the Bicentennial. On Monday, the dance group will return for an hour-long program at 12:15 p.m. sponsored by the State Museum.

Highlight of a series of events planned to entertain the visitors is a reception and tour of Morven, on Saturday at 2:30 p.m., followed by the Orange Key Tour of Princeton University.

A luncheon will be held on Friday at the 262 Alexander Street studios of the Princeton Ballet Society, which maintains The Princeton Ballet Company, to greet the members of Shaïda when they arrive from Philadelphia, where they have been appearing at the Temple Music Festival. Housing for the visit is being provided by members and friends of The Princeton Ballet.

Founded by Sheila Wood-Hudd, director and choreographer, of the Institution des Ursilenes, the Shaida Dance Group seeks personal contact with dancers internationally by visiting and in turn hosting other dance companies. It is the hope of Audree Estey, director of The Princeton Ballet, to take her dancers to Belgium next year.

While extensive tours have been made throughout Europe and Russia, this is the first visit by the Belgian group to the United States. The tour, which included six cities, was arranged by Roland Mracek and Falk Engel of Bon Voyage Travel Club of Trenton.

BAND MUSIC NEXT

In Summer Sounds Series. The Blawenburg Concert Band will strike up the old favorites this Thursday evening for a free Summer Sounds concert from the steps of Princeton High School.

Starting at 7:30 and lasting about one hour, the "oldest band in New Jersey" will feature melodies by such stalwarts as Sousa, Mancini, Youmans, Gould, Rimsky-Korsakov and Leroy Anderson.

Directed by George Soete of Ewing Street, the Blawenburg Concert Band's 30 members span the generations, but their hallmark has always been to make music for the fun of it and for the pleasure of all listeners. John W. Orr is the group's president and J. Percy Van Zandt the secretary-treasurer.

Bring blankets and camp chairs to join "Scheherazade" for "Trumpets Ole." Next Thursday evening, July 29 Summer Sounds will stage a Square Dance at the Dinky Railroad Station, University Place. Get set to dos-a-dos (do-si-do) with Mandy, the jolly "Jersey Jester," calling the steps.

REORGANIZATION SET For Dance Co-Op. The Dance Co-Op of Princeton, reorganized and renamed The Contemporary Dance Center of Princeton, will open its Fall class session on Sept. 13 at three locations.

The Dance Co-Op was established in 1973 by a group of professional dancers to provide instruction and creative outlets not elsewhere available in central New Jersey. Five of the founding members of the Co-Op have regrouped to form the Contemporary Dance Center. It will continue to be the only school of dance in the area devoted to modern dance, with emphasis on "movement" in the tradition of its leading proponents.

Classes have been held for the past three years at the Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church in Princeton. Last December the group mounted a highly successful multi-media workshop at the Visual Arts Building of Princeton University, with the support of the New Jersey State Council on the Arts and the National Endowment for the Arts, and for the last two years they have conducted a widely-praised experimental dance program in the public schools of Burlington, New Jersey, also funded by the Arts Council.

Beginning in September the Contemporary Dance Center will expand its program into Pennington, where classes will be held at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, and to Hamilton Square. Scheduled for the Fall are daytime and evening classes for young people and adults in modern dance on all levels, tap, jazz, creative movement for pre-school children, and a new offering for young people which combine basic ballet with modern dance.

The Dance Center instructors have had extensive training and experience in all phases of contemporary dance.

Sandy Goettinger studied ballet with Alicia Langford, and at the School of American Ballet and the Robert Joffrey and Farnsworth Hauer Schools, and modern dance at Smith College, the Cunningham Studio and Jacob's Pillow. She has been a member of the Jose Limon company.

Peggy Stack has degrees in dance from Hollins College and Columbia University, and she studied modern dance at the Graham School and the Cunningham Studio, ballet at the Carnegie School of Ballet, and jazz with David Harris.

Mimi Suarez, a former

Rockette at Radio City Music Hall, has performed in musical comedy and on television. She trained with Ted Shawn, Myra Kinch, Peter Gennaro, Luigi and Phil Black, among others.

Trudi Rae Zelikson, a Brooklyn College graduate, has performed in and done choreography for numerous musicals. She has trained with leading instructors in ballet, modern dance and jazz.

Guest instructor for advanced classes will be Heidi Bunting, a member of the Dan Wagoner company of New York and a noted choreographer.

A complete brochure will be available at the end of August. Requests for copies or for further information can be directed to the Contemporary Dance Center by phone to 924-9390, or by mail to Esther Seligmann, Artistic Director, 59 Gordon Way, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

GARDEN

The Sailor Who Fell With Grace From The Sea. Based on the novel by the late Japanese author Yukio Mishima, this romantic horror story stars Sarah Miles as a passionate English widow and Kris Kristofferson as a virile American merchant seaman whose erotic but short-lived romance is shattered by her disturbed young son.

The son's (Jonathan Kahn) major hangup is an obsession with the "purity and perfection" of the sea. When a large American ship is forced to dock, Miles obtains permission to take her son on board where both become captivated by captain Kristofferson. The boy begins to worship the sailor as a living symbol of the sea he loves so well.

But when Kristofferson returns several months later and decides to settle down with Miles as his wife, the boy turns against him, convinced that moving onto land would be the ultimate betrayal of the sailor's essence. Aided by his bizarre playmates, the youth resorts to grisly means to insure that Kristofferson will return to a state of grace with the sea.

Offbeat, but the implicit fascination to the story as handled by writer-director Lewis J. Carlino is too heavily-handed and ponderous to be effective.

PRINCE Harry and Walter Go To New York. James Caan and Elliott Gould play two good-natured but bumbling vaudevillians who've always dreamed of making the big time in this unabashedly silly, but rather likeable farce. They finally do in turn-of-the-century New York as safecrackers.

The jokes and pratfalls are delivered with no more grace than a fairground Punch and Judy show but delivered nonetheless. Caan and Gould pull out all the stops and although virtually everyone connected with the film -- except perhaps Michael Caine as a dry and urbane gentleman thief -- ends up working a trifle too hard for laughs, there are more than enough genuine, low-level chuckles along the way.

Caan and Gould are first rate but Diane Keaton as a zealous proletarian newspaper woman again confirms her status as one of the more original comic talents on the screen today and Caine nearly steals the show in his brief appearance as Caan's and Gould's Oxford-educated criminal nemesis.

Crosswalks Not Needed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In the interest of economy the Township and Borough could save taxpayers' money by not bothering to paint crosswalks on our streets. Since they are seldom heeded anyway, crosswalks waste paint and give unwary pedestrians a false sense of security by incorrectly implying that in these areas walkers are safer than in any other part of the street.

The savings in painting costs could be used to post signs around town warning: "Be Careful! Walking in Princeton may be Hazardous to Your Health." Incidentally, it is also risky to be a utility pole or tree at the edge of a Princeton road.

LEITH HOLLOWAY
32 Monroe Road

Bowen's Help Needed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is a letter I have sent to President Bowen of Princeton University, which I should very much like to present as well to the Princeton community. At the meeting to which I refer in the letter, it was abundantly clear that a great many Princeton people not only want a movie house on the order of the old Garden, but also that very nearly all of them want the Sameric chain banished from the town. This latter aim of course can be achieved only by the University.

ELOISE I. GOREAU
146 Nassau Street

The Juvenile Court judge once shouted at me, "Madame, you are speaking of the president of Princeton University!" My offense had been to refer to "Goheen" as I answered his question about my opinion of my daughter's joining demonstrators at IDA.

I was concerned to express my idea that President Goheen should have shown his respect for students' feelings by receiving their spokesmen; the Judge heard only what he took to be a display of disrespect toward not the man Goheen but the office of President and of course the institution of Princeton.

The man Goheen ultimately won my very great respect because he grew in office and became able to descend from the mountain top tradition had placed him on, to listen, to learn, and to act in a tradition far older and far more awe-inspiring than the tradition of Princeton University, one in fact on which Princeton's depends. That is the tradition of rational discourse and of a decent respect for the opinions of mankind.

As everyone who is concerned about preserving this tradition has been well aware for a long time, it has been giving way in common experience to "communication" and manipulation. When the older, fundamental concept disappears altogether, that of "universality" will surely follow.

I am calling this fact to your attention now because a piece of public information and two pieces of private information have suddenly revealed their connection in my mind, and because as President of Princeton you have the opportunity to reinvigorate the tradition to which Princeton owes its claim to respect, as President Goheen did before you.

What I learned last night at the first public meeting of the Princeton Moviegoers is that the University is determined to stand mute behind the rationalization of financial expediency prepared by its public relations experts in the matter of the ten-year lease of Princeton theatres to the odious Sameric Theatre chain, that the holdings of the University in Palmer Square, Inc. give it power to buy back the lease, and that the lease is cheap indeed in terms of the University's entire budget.

This information I connect with a reliable report that came to me two or three years ago that promoters of McCarter had moved deliberately to frustrate interest in film in order to force the "serious audience" to McCarter theatrical productions.

The other piece of private information that appears relevant is the egregiously large sums of money Princeton has begun to spend on advice from public relations and "management" experts and on providing the food and entertainment that always accompany such consultations and producing the "communications" they inevitably generate. Eliminating even one such project, I gather, would quickly free $45,000 to buy back the Sameric lease.

Such plain talk is frowned on these days; such large matters are, moreover, thought to be beyond the capacities of consistent, small minds; and finally Presidents are regarded as negotiators rather than movers. All those positions of course are the wisdom of communication and manipulation. I very much hope that you will adhere to another sort of wisdom, that Princeton University has historically espoused.

Unemployment Bill Bad

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The proposed Federal Unemployment Compensation Bill, H.R. 10210, now scheduled to be debated by the House on July 19, presumably could be brought to a vote that same day. Newspaper report indicates that an amendment to the Bill is expected to be offered to incorporate mandatory Federal unemployment compensation benefit standards which would boost benefits in New Jersey, some as high as over 20 percent.

It appears that passage of the mandatory Federal standard would ultimately drive the State of New Jersey to adopt a formula providing 66 and two-thirds percent of the worker's gross weekly wage up to 66 and two-thirds percent of the State-wide average weekly wage, simply because any reduction of benefits would prompt fierce (and understandable) labor opposition.

I am thoroughly in sympathy with and support the principles of unemployment compensation. However, as noted in the Governor's Unemployment Task Force Report, high wage replacement by unemployment benefits can and do represent a serious disincentive to work, and undermines our Nation's traditional work ethic.

While there is clear recognition of the need to rebuild enemployment funds throughout the Nation, with funds in 21 States and Puerto Rico currently bankrupt and at least 4 other funds near this status, the establishment of a mandatory Federal formula to increase benefits is most likely substantially to impede achievement of that requisite objective.

I am particularly concerned, and it is imperative that such concern be communicated to the public as well as to our Congressmen. H.R. 10210 must not contain a Federal benefit standard, and if such a standard is adopted, the Bill must be defeated, in the best interests of all of the people of New Jersey.

BUS ROUTES SET

For Seniors' Picnic. The Mercer County Metro bus will make two trips through Princeton Wednesday, July 28, to pick up seniors planning to attend the annual picnic at Prospect on the University campus.

The first trip will begin at 3:15 at Franklin Street and North Harrison Street, across from the Red Cross, and proceed north to Bunn Drive. After picking up passengers at Holly House at 3:20 the bus will go across Valley Road to Witherspoon Street, arriving at Mt. Pisgah Church at 3:30. From there it will make stops at Quarry Street at 3:35 and at Wiggins Street and Vandeventer Avenue at 3:40, before arriving at Prospect at 3:45.

The second trip will begin at 3:55 at Spruce Circle and will go up Harrison Street and along Nassau Street, making a stop at Chestnut Street at 4 for each table.

and arriving at Prospect at 4:10.

Those seniors who requested rides should note the above schedule and be on the nearest corner a little ahead of time. Those unable to board a bus and who have indicated special transportation problems will be contacted by telephone. For any questions regarding transportation call 924-7108, West Windsor seniors call Leon Reuter, 799-0336.

Transportation is being supplied by Mercer County, the Jaycees, the Red Cross, the YMCA and YMCA, Kiwanis Club and Nassau Conover Motor Co.

Marnie Allen, Red Cross, is in charge of special helpers for nursing home patients and chair-bound seniors who attend; Millie Intartaglia, Friendly Visitors of St. Paul's, and Dorothea Lummis will make reminder phone calls to seniors regarding the bus route. Martha Baer and Ruth Lesh, College Club, are in charge of floral centerpieces

Thursday, July 29: rain date for Senior Citizens Picnic.

Noon, YMCA program of films, bingo, etc. Bring a sandwich, dessert and drink will be provided.

Door Prizes and Entertainment. Additional door prizes have been donated by the Princeton Real Estate Group, Thorne's Pharmacy, Flower Basket, Princeton Savings & Loan and Forer's Pharmacy. Hinkson's has donated wrapping paper for the door prizes.

Caroline Moseley, noted area folk singer, will perform at the picnic, and the Granddads are expected to render their four-part harmony again this year. Other surprise entertainers are scheduled.

"The picnic is open to all area seniors but reservations must be in by Friday," advised Dorothy J. Kruger, picnic coordinator. "We must know ahead of time how much food to order. Also, if special transportation is required, we need time to arrange it."

Reservations may be made by calling the Senior Resource Center, 924-7108; Red Cross, 924-2404; and Recreation Department, 921-9480.

REACT TO MEET

Thursday in Kingston. The newly formed Tri-County REACT team of Citizens Band radio operators will meet this Thursday at 8 in the Kingston Firehouse. A typographical error in last week's TOWN TOPICS made it unclear which night the meeting will be held.

Anyone interested in joining Tri-County REACT is invited to attend. Starting August 1 the group expects to patrol the roads and use their CB equipment to alert police and fire departments to any emergencies. Information may be obtained from Joseph Petrozzini, 924-0441, or Charles McWilliams, 924-4204.

PROGRAM CONTINUES

For Senior Citizens. The Princeton YMCA summer program for retired persons continues with weekly luncheon programs each Thursday and day trips every other Tuesday. All are invited to participate.

This Thursday's noon program, July 22, will have a special bicentennial program in a slide presentation by Mrs. L. V. Silvester of the Historical Society. The talk which will deal with Princeton and its historic homes and sites will be followed the next week on Thursday, July 29, with a bus tour of these sites with Mrs. Silvester narrating. Each program begins at noon with participants bringing a sandwich, and iced tea and dessert is provided.

The next day trip will be Tuesday, August 3, to Smithville Village from 8:45 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. including buffet luncheon, shopping, and a tour of the Renault Winery.

Already planned and receiving registrations is the fall foliage four-day trip to Lake George, at Silver Bay, in New York state. In addition to the fall colors, this trip includes visits to Fort Ticon-

PRINT SHOW TO OPEN
At ETS This Sunday. An exhibit of 60 prints will be open to the public from 2 to 5 p.m. this Sunday, at Educational Testing Service (ETS).

Half of the prints will be exhibited in the Henry Chauncey Conference Center on the ETS campus on Rosedale Road and the remainder will be exhibited in Conant Hall, Lounge B.

The exhibit includes a variety of graphic media that were part of a 94-work juried graphics show organized by Ann Medlock of the Carrier Clinic and exhibited there last May. The art show represents the work of artists from nine states and Canada.

At the Carrier Clinic the entries were judged by John Ross, co-author of The Complete Printmaker; Carol Delfino Beighley, Director of Adjunctive Therapies at the Carrier Clinic; Andrew Stasik, Director of the Pratt Graphics Center in Manhattan; and Karl J. F. Gossner, M.D., Associate Director of the Carrier Clinic.

JAZZ AND A SALE
At Princeton Shopping Center. The Princeton Shopping Center will sponsor a performance of traditional dixieland jazz by the Red Onion Jazz Band Saturday from 11 until 3, and a giant Sidewalk Sale Friday from 10-9 and Saturday from 10-5.

Fresh from an appearance June 27 at the Newport Jazz Festival in Waterloo Village, the band plays every Friday night at O'Connors in Watchung. They play at Princeton University alumni reunions each year and have played concerts for the New Jersey Jazz Society and at traditional Long Island and Connecticut jazz societies as well as at Town Hall in New York City.

For the annual Sidewalk Sale everything that goes out on the sidewalks is reduced in price. The sale and the jazz concert will be held rain or shine.

PICNIC AREA PLANNED
For Rosedale Park. The Mercer County Park Commission announced today that bids will be accepted July 28 for the development of a new picnic area in Rosedale Park, Hopewell Township.

The Commission hopes to have the new picnic area completed by next summer.

The picnic area will be the third one developed by the Park Commission. The others are the Valley Road picnic area in Hopewell Township and the Princeton picnic grounds. The site being developed in Rosedale will have a group picnic area, access roads, parking facilities, a play field, plantings and rest rooms.

"The new picnic area is being developed as a result of a continuing demand for such facilities by county residents," said Richard J. Coffee, president of the Park Commission. "Almost all available dates at both of the existing picnic areas are usually taken up immediately through requests of county organizations and individuals in January. We are pleased with the tremendous response to these recreation areas, and we know that the new site in

A LITTLE NIGHT MUSIC...

When Sandy Maxwell sits down at a keyboard and Arnie Roth lifts his sax---the music is magic. They're part of Princeton's outdoor summer music, sounds to bring cool to a warm summer night. Both are members of Arnie's Public Service Band.

Take a blanket, a camp chair and a happy listening ear. Summer concerts in Princeton will give you Vivaldi or rock and you'd be surprised how many people like both. The concerts scattered around town have been planned by people from the Arts Council, Princeton University, the Joint Recreation Department, representatives of the Youth Fund and unaffiliated citizens who think free music in the summer is a fine idea. The present series of Princeton University Outdoor Chamber Concerts was started in the early 1970s under the guidance of Barbara Sand. The Trenton Jewish Center concerts--the only ones that aren't free, but you're only asked for a $1 donation--are the inspiration of Arno Satran, Princeton-area composer and teacher. These concerts are inside, by the way. You can leave your blanket at home.

SPORTS
In Princeton

3-TEAM RACE
In Adult Softball League, Conte's, with a 10-0 record, continues to lead the Princeton Recreation Adult Softball league, two full games ahead of its nearest rival, Center Sports.
In play last week, Conte's used its offense to defeat P.M.C., 14-6, and Grover Taxi, 16-10. Against P.M.C. John Pesce connected for a three-run homer, and Jerry Perpetua also drove in three runs. Against Grover, Don Witt had a big night with three home runs and seven runs batted in. Jerry Scarborough and Hugo Rossi also belted homers for Conte's and Doug Heil had four singles. Grover's Ed Coldren and Tim Kearns socked homers in a losing cause.

Center Sports won two games, topping Grover, 5-4, and C. Sq. C., 17-5. Tony Trani homered and Greg Kline hotted three-for-three for Center Sports against Grover. Center won the game in the bottom of the last inning when Trani's second hit scored the winning run. Three-hit performances by Brendon Leyton, Bill Bartolino, and Steve Perone highlighted the win over C. Sq. C.

Ivy Inn also scored two victories with wins over P.M.C., 15-2, and Andy's, 12-10. Against Andy's, Ivy scored eight runs in the fourth inning, then held on for the win. Keith Holcombe's three hits led Ivy.
In other action, Grover's, aided by a nine-run first inning, defeated C. Sq. C., 18-6. Andy's routed Plainsboro Package Store, 19-5, as Doug Watson and Bud Kleiber stroked three hits each, and Bill Aust's three hits led Plainsboro Package Store over C. Sq. C., 8-6.

MOYER, WALL WIN
In Women's Doubles, The Princeton Community Women's Doubles Tennis Tournament was won last Saturday by Nina Moyer and Patty Wall with a 6-1, 6-2 win over Terry Carp and Randy Gulick. Both teams emerged from three-set semi-final matches.

Moyer and Wall were extended to 6-4, 5-7, 7-5 by Jacquie Parmele and Pam Starkey while Carp and Gulick lost the first set before taking Rosemary Flanagan and Irene Daubert.

The consolation bracket was won by Marge Prior and Peg Whitehead who defeated Nancy Hatfield and Jacquie Ockerlander in a close 7-6, 7-5 match.

Meanwhile the men's doubles are underway with the finals scheduled for this weekend. The mixed doubles will begin on Saturday with entries closing at noon this Thursday. This year there is a flight for married couples only as well as one open to all. Entry forms are available at the Pagoda and at the tennis office at 71 University Place.

DRIVES IN WINNING RUN: Shortstop Tony Trani's hit in the last inning scored the winning run in Center Sports' 5-4 win over Grover Taxi last week in the Adult Softball League. Trani had homered earlier in the contest.

SAME OLD STORY...
Post 76 in Second Place. After weeks of pursuing Northern Division leaders Ewing Post 314, Princeton Post 76's hopes for a divisional title have been all but wiped out. With one week of play remaining before the playoffs begin, Princeton trails Ewing by three points and the remaining schedules for the two teams would appear to favor Ewing.

Post 76 (13-9-1) kept in contention last week, defeating Lawrence Post 414, 7-2. Princeton wasted little time in taking the lead when Bill Schroeder blasted the first of two homers driving in Scott Thompson, who had singled ahead of him. Schroeder connected again in his next at bat, ripping a solo shot over the center field fence. Princeton struck for three more runs as Schroeder continued his hitting rampage. His two singles and Dave Seagers' pair of run-scoring singles gave Princeton all the runs it needed.

Rich Malacrea scattered five hits for Post 76 in getting the win.

In a most game, Post 76 came back in the top of the ninth to defeat Ewing Post 314, 2-1. After trailing 1-0 since the bottom of the first, Princeton was finally able to scratch out two runs. Thompson began the rally with a walk and moved to third on Schroeder's third hit of the day, a double to center field. Seager's then tied the game with a single.

SPORTS FANS!
I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to you
By John Bernard

Here's an amazing sports fact... Did you know that a 12-year old boy once won a gold medal at the Olympics?... He holds the record as the youngest person ever to win an Olympic gold medal... He was 12-year old Bernard Mallivoire of France, who won a gold medal in the 1952 Olympics by serving as the coxswain in a rowing event... Youngest girl ever to win an Olympic gold medal was 13-year old Marjorie Gestring of the U.S., who won a swimming event in the 1936 games.

This will give you an idea of how long Walter Alston has been managing the Dodgers... When Alston became Dodger manager, Dwight Eisenhower was U.S. President, Arnold Palmer had not yet turned pro as a golfer and Billie Jean King was 10 years old. Alston has managed the Dodgers every year since 1954.

What's the big league baseball record for a player going to bat the most consecutive times without getting a base hit?... The record was set by Bob Buhl in 1962 when he went to bat 70 straight times without a hit, and never lifted his average above .000 that season.

I bet you bet you didn't know that travel accident insurance is inexpensive. Imagine a $25,000 policy for less than one dollar a day.

Trenton Post 458. Despite leading the entire game, Princeton had to hold on as North Trenton engineered a comeback that saw it score five runs in the last five innings. Princeton combined some sloppy play by North Trenton with timely hitting for six runs. Led by Schroeder's three hits, two more by Dave Robinson, one a triple, and a double by Jim LaPlaca the Princeton offense managed to stay just ahead and preserve the win for Darryl McPherson.

Dreams for the season were jolted on Sunday, however, when Princeton dropped a 13-inning marathon to Lawrence, 6-5. After giving up four runs in the first three innings to Lawrence's Dino Bottoni, Princeton settled down before giving up the winning run in the 13th. Bottoni smashed a bases-loaded triple in the first inning and then came up with a line drive smash that carried over the left field fence at Clarke Field to give Lawrence the boost it needed.

Although Princeton raked Lawrence starter Ed Smith for sixteen hits, it could not come up with the big hit. Two run scoring wild pitches in the bottom of the ninth to send the game into extra innings, and during the overtime, it had runners on in every inning, but could not score.

The Princeton attack was led by Dave Duncan, who had four hits and Schroeder, who had three. Schroeder's 3-for-5 performance gave him 20-for-26 in his last seven games, raising his average to .440. The West Windsor player has been the hottest hitter in the League since the All-Star game.

MONDAY IS START

Of Girls Tennis Open. The Princeton Girls Open, a Middle States Tennis Association sanctioned tournament, will begin Monday at the University Church Courts. Finals are expected to begin next Friday.

For 18, 16 and 14 and under girls, the tournament is divided into singles and doubles competition. Entries close Friday. Last-minute entry blanks may be obtained at the Tennis Office, 71 University Place.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oglesby are handling all the entries and finances for the tournament. The Oglesbys and Joe Diefenbach, Tournament Director and a staff member of the Princeton Community Tennis Program, anticipate about 200 entries again this year.

Registration will be held at the University Church Courts Monday morning at 10. No phone entries will be accepted, but any last minute questions will be answered by Mr. Oglesby (924-4765) or the Tennis Office (924-4343).

FIRSTPLACE JAMMED

In PYBA Little League. As the PYBA season enters its final week, it is certain that there will be no repeat of last year's runaway race won by undefeated Engine Co. 1. Presently, there is a three-way tie for first among the Elks, U.A. Local 380, and Post 76.

U.A. Local 380 created the tie with a 9-7 upset of the Elks. Greg Lieberman got the win with relief help from Josh Miller. They also contributed to the offense, Lieberman connecting for two hits, including a home run, and Miller rapping two safeties. Todd Geherty added a triple for the winners. Pat Kellogg and Jeff Wilkerson homered for the Elks, while Reid Horowitz tripled.

For its other win Local 380 outslugged Engine Co. 3, 13-10. Monica Greenland and Geherty combined for the win, holding No. 3 to three hits. Scott Roney and Lieberman each had three hits, while Miller, Tom Jones, and Carl Rice had two apiece. Lamont Fletcher (two hits) and Jimmy Pitman, accounted for all No. 3's hits.

Post 76 also won two games to move into the tie for first. Against the Eagles, Clark Lippincott struck out eight en route to a 12-5 win. Four hits by Terry Phox, two of them homers, four by Peter Nelson, a double by John Di Bianco and a safety by Fred Haitch provided the offense. Hard-hitting Muffin Walker had three hits and Jason Petrone doubled for the Eagles.

Melson had three hits in picking up the other Post 76 win, a 12-9 decision over Roma Eterna. He received additional help from Phox, Lippincott who banged out two doubles and two triples, Fred Haitch, Lee Root, Phil Corwin, and Bruce O'Neill, who homered. Jeff Briggs had three hits, Geordie McLaughlin had two hits, and Bart Thomas one for Roma Eterna.

Engine Co. 1 moved into sole possession of second place with a pair of wins. The defending champions edged PIASC, 5-4, as Judd Petrone hurling a two-hitter and had two doubles. P.J. Young added three hits, and Chris Hoover, two more. John Migliori tripled and Scott Gabrielson singled for PIASC's only hits.

Peter Versfeld then pitched No. 1 to a 12-9 win over Engine Co. 3 as Petrone smashed two home runs. Chris Hoover, Brian O'Grady, Larry McKellar, and Barbie Falcone all had key hits for the victors. For No. 3, Lamont Fletcher and Allen Smith each stroked two hits.

The Elks managed to stay in a tie for first with a 13-4 win over Roma Eterna. Todd Breithaupt pitched a three-hitter to pick up the win. He received support from Reid Horowitz' four hits and Pat Kellogg's home run. Jeff Briggs, Tom Murray and Bart Thomas were the only hitters for Roma Eterna.

In an upset, PIASC defeated the Eagles 5-3 with Kevin Phox getting the win and Ken Vervel smashing two hits. Jason Petrone, Mike Petrone, Muskie Teresky, and Muffin Walker paced the Eagles at the plate.

Basketball "Hotshots": This May Be Your Chance

Competition in the first Pepsi/NBA Hotshot contest, basketball's equivalent to football's highly-successful Punt, Pass & Kick Competition, will begin Wednesday.

John Bailey of the Joint Effort Sport Foundation here, reports that demonstrations and registration will be held at playgrounds, community centers and youth groups in the area through Monday. Complete information is available from the Princeton Recreation Department, 921-9480.

Competition on a local level will end August 10; survivors will compete August 14 at 11 a.m. at the black top court at John and Clay Streets. Winners will advance to regional competition.

Eventually, six champions in each of the four NBA Divisions will compete against each other. In February, the Pepsi Cola Company will award each of the six ultimate national Pepsi/NBA Hotshot Champions $4,000 college scholarships.

Competitors will be divided into six groups: boys and girls, 9-12, 13-15 and 16-18. No school or high school varsity players will be allowed to compete, Mr. Bailey said.

Registration forms may be obtained, he said, at the Recreation Department in the Valley Road School building, at the Princeton Playgrounds and Youth House.

The competition is a one-minute timed event in which contestants try to sink as many shots as they can from five "hotspots" around the basket. Hotspot A, 12 feet from the basket in the left corner is worth two points. B, 21 feet from the left of key is worth 4 points; C, 24 feet from top of key is worth 5 points, and D, 15 feet from right of key and E, 15 feet from right corner are each worth three points. Each contestant is allowed a maximum of two layup shots (2 points) and there is a bonus three points for attempting shots from all five "hotspots".

There will be one winner from each age and sex category. The Pepsi-Cola Company estimates that 900,000 boys and girls will participate in the event.

Ben Liu, Tom Betterton, and David Robinson, 10-u boys with Jeremy Wilson, John Bolster, Van Horn and Mike Petrone, 12-u girls with Abby Harris, Miriam Dyson, Libby Bolster and Nage Manabe, and 17-u girls with Tory Garvey, Dorothy Dyson, Martha Bolster and Ann Healy.

EVALUATIONS SET
For Swimming Program. The Princeton Recreation Department will evaluate those interested in swimming instructions at Community Pool for the 2nd session, July 26 - August 20. Evaluations will be held at Community Pool today through Friday from 9:30 to 11:30 in the morning.

Instructions cost $4 for the first child in a family and $2 for each additional child. Those returning from the first session will also be required to pay.

The Recreation Department is also offering a program in beginning diving. Those interested should contact Marianne McDonald at poolside between 9:30 a.m. and 8 p.m., Monday through Friday.

SHOWDOWN NEARS
Between Staats and Zips. As the Mercer Major League Softball League turns for the home stretch, Staats E & G, a Princeton - based team, clings to first place in anticipation of two crucial contests this week.

Staats (15-3) holds a tenuous half - game lead over regional champion Zips Steak House (16-4) and will meet the defending major league champions this Wednesday and Friday evening at Mercer County Central Park.

Staats pounded Zips, 13-3, in their first encounter this year only to have Zips come back and hand Staats its worst loss since the inception of the team, 18-2. Zips Steak House and Staats met twice in the USSSA tournament with Zips triumphing 8-6, 16-10.

Staats will enter the two games with a line - up that has six players all hitting over .500: Tom Devito .531; Gary Drake .500; Wes Cawley .561; Bill Povia .563; Jack Roberts .540; and Charlie Warshefski .516. Cawley and Povia lead the team in RBI's with 25 and 24 respectively, while Jay Stoutenburg has driven in 22.

defended her Ladies Club championship at Springdale July 13 with a victory over former champion and tournament medalist Ruth Thornton, 3 and 1.

In other flights, Claire Parsells beat Amy Shillaber on the 20th hole to win the beaten eight. Anne Poole beat Rose Johnson two up in the first flight and the second flight was captured by Mrs. Betty Bardwell over Miriam Houghton, 3 and 2.

TITLE GAME FRIDAY
In Summer Lacrosse. The championship game of the Princeton Summer Lacrosse League will be played Friday at the Valley Road School field. Playoffs among the top four teams were scheduled to be held this Wednesday evening.

In last week's activity, first-place Blue (5-1) edged Black, 8-7, and suffered its first loss, dropping a 10-8 decision to Red, which is in second place with a 4-1 record.

Navy evened its record at 3-3 with a 12-8 victory over Orange and a 10-5 triumph over White. Third-place Orange (3-2) gained a split with a 13-7 victory over winless Black, while Green won its second in five outings with a 15-6 win over also winless White.

Dave Baxter scored four goals and Ed Baruch added a pair in Blue's win over Black. Ron Campbell had four and Jim Bolster two goals for Black. Baxter, Pete Lehle and Bryce Chase each scored two goals in the 10-8 upset at the hands of Red. Bob Olsson, four goals and Mark Campbell, three, were the big guns for Red. Adding single tallies for the victors were Bob Campbell, Bob McClusky and Kevin Syberg.

Alex Wert, Bob Littell and Alex Kinnan combined for 10 of Navy's 12 goals in its win over Orange. Wert scoring five. Dave Barnes, Mace Mohrman and Morgan Mohrman accounted for seven of the losers' eight goals.

Against White, Navy's Tim Sheehan, Pete Scott and Tony Scialabba each scored twice, while Mike Shannon had a pair for the losers.

Mace Mohrman scored five goals and brother Morgan added four more to lead Orange to its win over Black. Ron Campbell's four paced the losers. Greg Mathews of Green was the week's high scorer as he rammed home six

Princeton Boy Wins State Golf Tourney

Sixteen-year old Jim McCarthy, 44 Morgan Place, won the state PGA junior golf championship Monday and will travel to DisneyWorld in Florida next month to play against the best young players in the country in the PGA nationals.

Competing in a field of 45 boys, 17 and under, at Fairmont Country Club in Chatham, McCarthy fired rounds of 72 and 79 to win the event by three strokes over Sal Silverstone of Pike Brook Country Club in Montgomery Township.

Getting off to a fast start, McCarthy had a two-under par 34 on the front nine and never trailed thereafter. At the end of 18, equalling par on the course, he led Silverstone by four strokes. He faded a bit on the second 18, but still finished comfortably in front.

With the temperatures in the 80's, the match became a test of endurance as well as skill. Playing 36 holes in one day, the contestants had to lug their own bags around the course, and still manage to concentrate on their game. "My legs felt like lead weights for the last five holes," McCarthy commented.

At DisneyWorld, McCarthy will get the same treatment as the pros, playing 18 holes a day for four days, and have a caddie to tote his bag.

McCarthy, who will be a senior at Princeton High School in the fall, plays his golf at Springdale, where he scored a hole in one last year. He also played on the high school team, until budgetary problems forced the school to drop the sport.

Koffee Kup erupted for 11 runs in the seventh inning to turn a surprisingly stubborn contest with winless Zephyrs into a 23-2 rout. Vernell Carr, Lisa Yates and Judy Grisham all hit homers for the victors, Carr connecting twice. Kris Mathieson homered for the Zephyrs.

BANK AND TRUST ON TOP

In Babe Ruth League. Princeton Bank and Trust defeated Tiger Garage, 6-3, and tied LaVake Jewelers, 8-8, last week to stay on top in the Princeton Babe Ruth League. Its record is 6-1-1.

Tiger follows with 4-2-1, LaVake is 2-3-2 and Princeton

Benevolent Association, which lost two last week, is 1-7.

In the Bank's victory over Tiger Garage, Keith Phox hurled a 3-hitter and added a triple at the plate. Others hitting safely for the Bank were Evan Press, Mario Mangone and Joe Lapsley. Losing pitcher Al Kandell tossed a hitter and, like his counterpart, also banged a triple. Andrew Lesh and Mike Nosal had the other two hits off Phox.

Woody Clark almost stopped the Bank single-handedly in the tie with LaVake. In addition to pitching a 5-hitter, he had a 4-for-5 performance at the plate, including a pair of doubles. Contributing to the LaVake attack were Rick Johnson, Dan Cowan, Chris McDonald and Chip Kleiber.

For PB&T, Phox connected for two hits, including a triple, and Press and David Reed also solved Clark for hits. Dave Sally, PB&T hurler, was touched for ten hits.

Clark, Kleiber and Gerry Keller provided the hitting in LaVake's 11-5 victory over the PBA team. Johnson got the win. Ronnie Ward homered for PBA.

Tiger Garage gained a split when it defeated PBA, 12-5, behind the hitting of Nosal, Lesh, Kandell, Bob Flippin, Kevin Cooke and Matt Kahny.

Cooke and Flippin combined to pitch a 6-hitter.

For PBA, Ron Ward tossed a 7-hitter and contributed a pair of hits. Also connecting for the losers were Tony Pittman, Tony Pirone, Elio Pirone and Dave Dinnella.
